Push Hunt For Former Resident

Benjamin Chase
Missing From Boat

The search continued today for a former Kingston man missing from a barge on the Barge Canal near Schenectady since last Saturday.

Captain of Barge

State Police at the Fonda substation told The Freeman that Benjamin Chase, 40, of 30 Woodmere Place, Selden, L. I., a barge captain, was missing sometime between midnight and 1 a. m. April 23 between Locks 9 and 10 on the canal. They said that dragging operations, which were curtailed today because of the weather, were expected to be resumed Friday.

Chase, a native of Kingston, was employed by the Reliance Marine Transportation and Construction Corp., of 615 Abeel Street in Kingston. He reportedly left Kingston a week ago and was on one of two barges being pushed by a tug en route to Oswego as part of the Albany-Oswego run.

Trooper F. P. Goldman, of the Fonda station, told The Freeman that Chase was believed aboard the barge when it passed through the lock near Schenectady, but was missing between the next two locks as the barges headed toward Amsterdam.

Worked Here Several Years
Bernard A. Feeney Sr., official of Reliance Marine, said that Chase had been employed several years by the firm. He said that he believed that the barge left here shortly after midnight Thursday, April 21. He confirmed that Oswego was the destination of the barge.

PSC Issues Two Area Decisions

The Public Service Commission has accepted for filing tariff amendments for an increase in fare in a New Paltz bus line and for an increase in rates in a water company servicing real estate developments in four Ulster County areas.

According to an announcement by the PSC today in Albany, the Commission accepted an amendment proposed by the Arrow Bus Line Inc., New Paltz, designed to increase virtually all of its fares, effective May 2, and another amendment by the Hudson Valley Water Companies, Inc., calling for a rate increase of $1.50 quarterly to each of its 394 metered customers beginning May 1.

The bus company operates two multizone omnibus routes: one 17.5 miles long between New Paltz and Kingston, and another, 12 miles long, between New Paltz and Poughkeepsie. Hudson Valley provides water service to residents of real estate developments known as Mt. Marion, High Falls, Hurley Ridge East and Hurley Ridge West. It also provides fire protection in the Mt. Marion development.

UNLOADING BRICK FOR COLLEGE—The shipment of facing brick from Winchester, Va., consigned for Ulster County Community College, and the object of a stormy controversy here this week, was unloaded Wednesday. A carting firm (above) is loading several flats of brick on a truck for delivery to the Stone Ridge college site. Some flats have about 560 bricks and others have over 600. The railroad car reportedly held from 44,000 to 60,000 bricks. No one has been able to confirm the exact amount. This is the first shipment of what has been reported to be a part of an order of about 350,000. The Board of Supervisors building committee met in special session yesterday afternoon to discuss the brick controversy. The board advocated the use of Hudson Valley brick for the college buildings and inquires as to the feasibility of using local brick were in progress when the out-of-state brick arrived at a Rosendale rail siding. The victim, Victor Rossiello, according to the Associated Press was reportedly beaten to death. No further details were revealed.

GI Losses Drop In Viet Battles; Week's Toll 35

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. military spokesmen reported today that the Vietnamese army and air force are hitting the Communists with renewed vigor after weeks of lessened activity during the political crisis.

Government forces waged 77 battalion-sized operations against the Viet Cong in the past week, an increase of 10 per cent, and the air force stepped up its sorties against the enemy by 30 per cent.

Avoid Yank Contact
The Viet Cong mostly continued to avoid contact with American forces, and U.S. casualties dropped sharply last week. Government losses also were down, but Viet Cong casualties increased somewhat, reflecting the larger part being played again by the South Vietnamese.

The U.S. command said 35 Americans were killed, 547 wounded and eight missing or captured last week, compared with 89 killed, 635 wounded and five missing the week before. The number killed was the lowest since the week ending Jan. 22, when 21 Americans died in action.

Viet Cong losses for the week were put at 694 killed and 69 captured, compared with 531 killed and 135 captured April 10.

Fish Given 180-95 Win In Dutchess

Endorsements by the Dutchess County Republican Committee of candidates for state offices Wednesday night paved the way for contests at the primary election late in June. State and local candidates were endorsed at the spirited session held at the Helene Center in Poughkeepsie.

Fish Is Supported
Hamilton Fish Jr., of Millbrook, received the support of the Dutchess group as candidate for Congress from the 28th Congressional District. Only one ballot was taken. Fish polled 180 votes to 95 for Alexander Aldrich of Columbia County, who received the endorsement of the Ulster County Republican Committee at its meeting last Saturday.

Commenting on the result of the vote at the Dutchess GOP meeting, Aldrich said today he was "more than pleased" by the support he received in Dutchess County where the Republican committee endorsed Fish, the local candidate.

Aldrich, who has the unanimous endorsement of all four other Republican County Committees in the 28th Congressional District (Columbia, Greene, Schoharie and Ulster) said "in receiving more than one third of the votes in my opponent's own ball park, I feel I've made up considerable ground in Dutchess County since earlier this year."

Anticipates 3-1 Victory
"The other four counties," Aldrich pointed out, "account for 64 per cent of the Republican endorsement."

Halt College Work, To Demand Inquiry

Work at the Ulster Community College site, Stone Ridge, came to a halt this morning when members of other unions refused to cross a picket line which had been posted Wednesday by members of Teamsters Local 445.

The site was picketed Wednesday by members of Teamsters Local 445, but no attempt was made to prevent other union members from crossing the picket line which was called an "information" picket line, designed to inform other Union members that non-union brick was being used on the job.

Today the other tradesmen refused to cross the picket line and all work was halted.

Prospects Good: Alecca

Meanwhile a meeting was called at the college site for 11 a. m. today at which time the matter was to be discussed by union officials, members of the Board of Supervisors Building and Sites committee, the architect and others.

Shortly before the meeting was called, Anthony Alecca, vice president and business manager of 445, Teamsters Local, said prospects were "good" for an early adjustment of the dispute. At a meeting Wednesday afternoon, said to have been a very "heated" one, the Building Committee and others discussed the problem with the architect but when no solution was reached, the meeting for this morning was scheduled.

Alecca said this morning that he hoped, as a result of the meeting today some agreement could be reached and that recommendations would be made to the board of supervisors at its special meeting Friday to solve the matter.

Says 22,500 Brick Here

"I am hopeful that after the meeting today the board of supervisors will do something about it at the special meeting Friday," Alecca said. He said that thus far one carload of Virginia brick numbering 22,500 has been unloaded.

One of the questions involved is does Hudson Valley brick meet the standards required on the job. Alecca said one of the things to be determined at the meeting today at the college site was whether the Hudson valley brick did meet the standards. He said samples of the brick would be tested to demonstrate that local brick did meet standards.

Also attending the meeting today was Joseph P. Amato, president of Brickhandlers Union Local 1467, who has protested the use of non-union brick from Virginia.

Sangaline Asks Probe

A full-scale investigation of the situation involving the use of Virginia brick for the Ulster County Community College will be demanded by John C.

Sangaline, (R), 3rd ward supervisor. In a statement made today Supervisor Sangaline announced he would request an investigation covering all aspects of the situation which has created deep concern by local brick manufacturers and members of

Mayor Still Undecided

No Action Taken On Development

A special Common Council meeting was adjourned Wednesday night without further action on the proposed Linderman Avenue zoning change for an apartment development, after the alderman considered an opinion by Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy holding that the 9-2 vote April 22 was sufficient to approve the requested zoning change.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan who did not sign the measure forwarded from the April 22 meeting because he felt a legal question was still to be resolved, said today he was still undecided as to signing it.

In a statement Wednesday dealing with the city's zoning ordinance, the mayor said he was "going to ask 100 per cent cooperation of the aldermen before I sign any further changes in the zoning, or I will veto it and they can pass it over my veto. Monday he had announced signing measures to permit an apartment development on a Beatty farm site and for a Holiday Inn motel and restaurant complex off Washington Avenue near the Esopus Creek.

Alderman John Machione (R) 12th Ward, who opposes the zoning change, today said he feels there have been "irregularities" of procedure in dealing with the petition and they should be checked.

Unnecessary: Murphy

Murphy, Garraghan appointee, in a four-page report, said last night's meeting was unnecessary, but was legal and proper. Basing his opinion on "McQuillan on Municipal Corporations," he held that three-fourths of a legal quorum was sufficient to approve the zoning change at the April 22 meeting. He had given the same opinion at that meeting. Two aldermen were absent.

His report submitted last night noted that there has been no opinion by the Attorney General "on this subject in relation to a statute of the City of Kingston or any other city."

The petition for a zoning change involved was submitted by the Income Fund Enterprises Corp., of Jamaica, which plans a garden type apartment development of 273 units at a cost of some $3,000,000 on the Linderman Avenue tract.

Murphy ended his report read last night with the following paragraph:

Available for Advice

"In conclusion, I would like to remind the members of this council of all political persuasion that I am available to advise you honestly and efficiently. I do not rely upon radio commentators, newspaper reporters, opinions of the Attorney General, whether given or not, which

2 Predict Improved Rail Service Through Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — The heads of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads predict the merger of the once-bitter business rivals will result in improved passenger and freight service and possibly lower fares.

Most unions, state officials and other railroads applauded the unanimous ruling Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission — ICC — that turned two of the nation's rail giants into one in history's largest corporate merger.

Unless legal action is taken to block the consolidation, which had been sought for five years, the two systems are free to unify beginning June 1.

In an effort to insure no job losses from the merger, the ICC ruled the system may not reduce its work force without showing a 5 per cent business drop in any 30-day period.

Another condition imposed on the merged railroad is that it assume operation of the freight and passenger service of the deficit-ridden New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad through 1968. It said the New Haven could not abandon the bulk of its passenger service.

In another action, the commission rejected by a 6-5 vote the merger of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroads. The decision against creation of a 25,000-mile system linking the Midwest to the Pacific drew bitter opposition statements from four commissioners and faces the challenge in the courts.

The new Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co., with total assets of more than $4 billion, will take the form of a 20,000-mile system stretching from St. Louis and Chicago to Montreal and Washington.

The ICC said the merger would enable the railroads to save $80 million annually after 1974 and that the public would benefit either by improved service or lower rates.

In rejecting the merger plans of the Northern lines, the ICC majority ruling said the individual lines are prospering and had failed to show that their proposed merger would improve service by eliminating competition.

The Northern lines may contest the ruling before a federal court, which could remand the case to the ICC or uphold the finding.

Still Prodding Albany Wilson Vows Efforts on 209 By-Pass

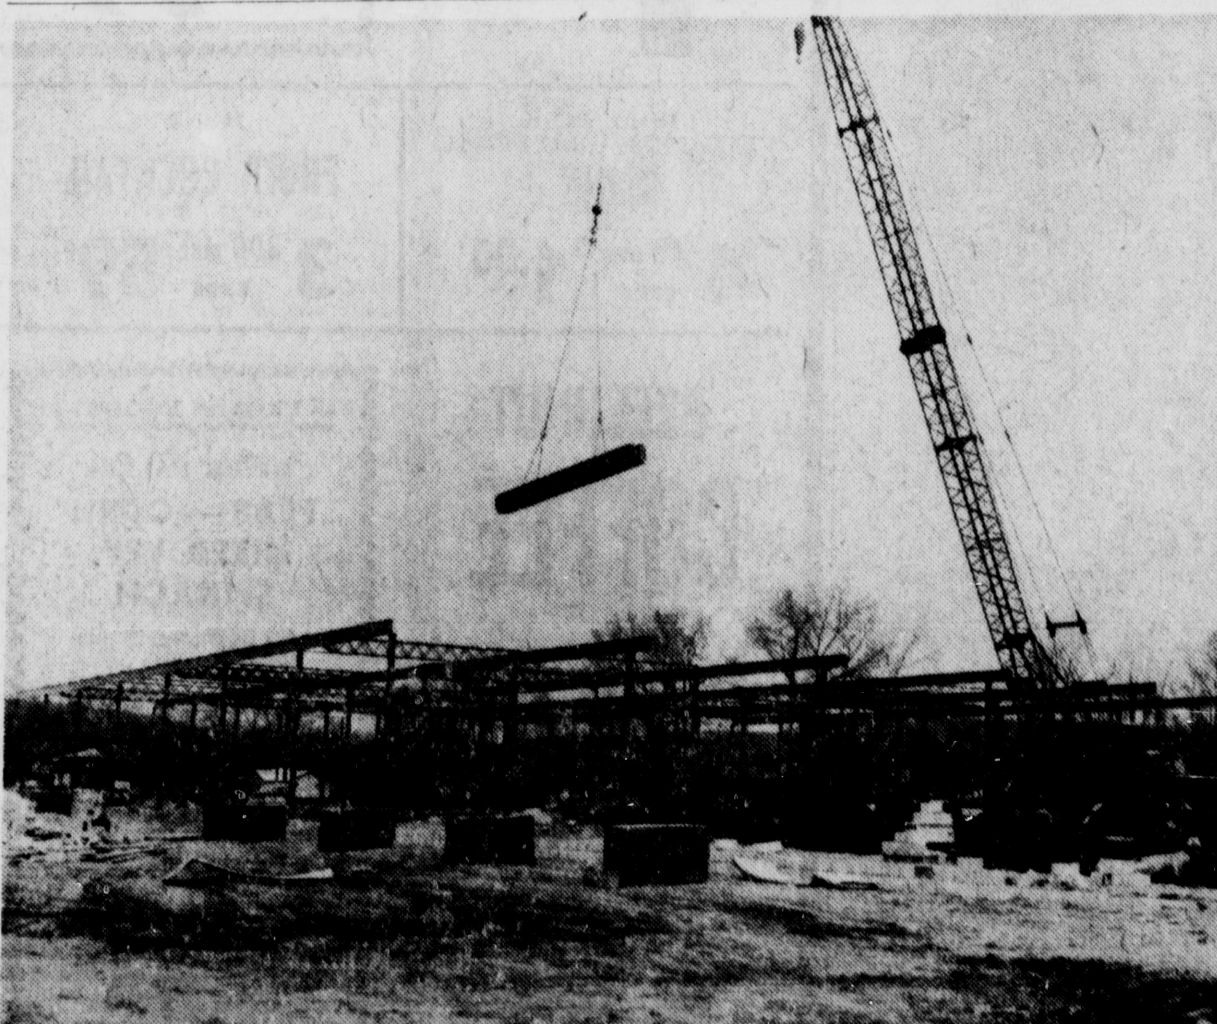

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson said today he will continue his efforts toward completion of the proposed Route 209 By-Pass from the Town of Hurley to the Town of Wawarsing, particularly in the areas of Stone Ridge and Ellenville. Assemblyman Wilson cited the fact that following the completion of the present section of the By-Pass from the Kingston Rhinecliff Bridge to the southern section of the Town of Hurley there were no additional funds made available in the State budget for any further extension of the highway.

Wilson said he has constantly pressed the New York State Department of Public Works and the Division of the Budget to allocate funds for the project, but so far the answer has been that there is just so much revenue for highway construction and that other projects both in the County and throughout the State have taken priority over the continuation of the 209 By-Pass.

The Ulster County Assemblyman said, however, that he takes exception to the state's reasoning for delaying the project on the basis of need by citing the fact that the need is there because of the ever-growing amount of traffic on Route 209 and the condition of the present highway. Wilson also said the Ulster County Community College in Stone Ridge will mean that there will be a great increase in the volume of traffic in that area, and because of this the By-Pass route is badly needed.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESS AT SEARS

Crane lowers beams onto steel superstructure at new Sears Roebuck and Company store giving visible evidence of construction progress at store site in Kingston Shopping Plaza. G. Scott Alexander, vice-president of Kingston Plaza Inc., told The Freeman today that it was expected that steel work would be completed in about two weeks with brick work to start Monday. He said footings should be started Monday on adjacent automotive store. He said it was hoped that Sears would be able to take occupancy by September 1, with a formal opening in October. Larsen, Swart and Larsen are general contractors for project and new full-line department store will be of Colonial construction. New store will be located at foot of Fair Street Extension about 200 feet adjacent to Grand Union store. With opening of new Kingston Plaza facility, Sears is expected to vacate catalogue sales store which has been located in Ulster Shopping Plaza since October 1962. Alexander told The Freeman that current plans for further development of Kingston Shopping Plaza call for construction of 26,000 feet of additional store space between Grand Union and Sears by July.

Campaign to Aid Local CP Center Begins on Sunday

The Ulster-Greene Cerebral Palsy Fund Drive with a goal of $8,500 will start Sunday, May 1. Scheduled for the month of May, it will be conducted in areas in the two counties outside the Ulster Community Chest.

One of the services offered by the Cerebral Palsy Center, one of the members of the Ulster County Community Chest at 400 Broadway, Kingston, is a day nursery school for handicapped pre-school children. The prime purpose of this school is to start, as early as possible, to introduce the child to the world in which he lives.

The handicapped child, be it a physical problem, speech problem, or hearing problem, lives a sheltered life after he is born. He is protected by his parents, brothers and sisters. The nursery school, taking him as young as two or three, introduces him to other children his age, to the personnel at the Cerebral Palsy Center, and to the fundamental therapy he will receive in later years, while gently weaning him away from his sheltered home life.

In an environment of play he is shown how to use the hand that is injured, the leg that doesn't respond. Children with speech defects have difficult sounds emphasized during their activities. All of this is an introduction to the therapy he will receive when he is older and is intended to bridge the gap to the capped children offered at the center which serves the Ulster-Greene area. The annual fund campaign in the two counties outside the Ulster Community Chest area will begin Sunday and continue through the month of May. Goal is set at $8,500.

extensive training given by the therapists at the Center.

The nursery school is headed by Mrs. William Oskay, Port Ewen, who, with volunteers devotes her time and attention to the problems of the individual child. She uses toys that hold the child's interest while also strengthening weak muscles; clay to be pounded and shaped by weak hands, marching games for weak legs, activities to encourage listening and talking. Through all of this "Miss Eve" works in cooperation with the staff of full time therapists and under the supervision of consultant specialists, including a psychologist.

Accepts Therapy

As a result of early training, the child more readily accepts therapy when the consulting medical staff feels he is prepared. Even after the start of full therapy, the child continues in the nursery school in order to supplement that therapy and to continue the social adjustment that he must make to the outside world.

A visit to the nursery school is worthwhile and can be accomplished without disturbing the children due to the one-way window in the door. There visitors will see children playing as in any pre-school group; each child engrossed in his own activity, two or three gathered around a table, "Miss Eve" reading a story to another group of children. A normal, healthy atmosphere for any child where the objective is to have fun and to learn. And learn they do, the children enjoy their nursery school and therefore make amazing progress. If this were the only function of the Cerebral Palsy Center it would be worth the cost in time and money.

"When you give your donation to the Ulster-Greene Cerebral Palsy Fund Drive you are helping these children to learn to accept their therapy and are also helping them to be accepted into the world around them. 'Happiness Is Helping', is the campaign theme. Help make these children happy," Mrs. Martin Nilan, campaign chairman, pointed out.

The annual drive for funds for Cerebral Palsy is conducted each May in areas outside the Ulster County Community Chest, part of the yearly budget for the Center is covered by Chest funds. The Center serves children from all of Ulster and Greene Counties and it is this remaining area which will be canvassed in May.

United Cerebral Palsy is a member of Ulster Community Chest.

Final Check Is Urged on Status Of Kin, Medicare

Those with parents, grandparents or other relatives over the age of 65 were urged today to make a final check on the medicare status of these individuals.

According to George J. Habernig, social security district manager in Kingston, some older people in the area have not yet applied for coverage under the new hospital and medical insurance programs. And the deadline, May 31, is approaching.

Habernig pointed out that individuals 65 and older may be covered under medicare even if they are not eligible for monthly social security benefits. He added, however, that the coverage is not automatic and requires the filing of a simple application before the deadline.

Habernig also cautioned younger family members to make certain that social security beneficiaries have returned the medical insurance enrollment card mailed to everyone over 65 on the social security and railroad retirement rolls.

"Failure to file an application on time, or to return the enrollment card, may be costly," he noted.

All social security offices will

Methodist Youth Elect Officers

The Beyond the Local Church (BLC) delegates of the Kingston Sub-district Youth Council elected officers last Sunday after a youth rally at the Saugerties Methodist Church.

Those elected include Gail Lindemann of the Esopus Methodist Church, president; Alma Becker of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church, vice president; Mike Martin of Stone Ridge and Henrietta Darling of Port Ewen as delegates to the District Youth Council; Karen Hasbrouck of New Paltz, secretary; and Eileen Baker of Saugerties, treasurer.

Some 14 Methodist churches in the Kingston area are represented on the Sub-district Youth Council. The speaker at the Rally held this past Sunday was Philip Chien who spoke on the many opportunities available in church-related vocations through the Methodist Church.

The next Rally will be held at Camp Epworth, High Falls Sunday, June 5 from 3-8 p. m. Advisor to the Sub-district is the Rev. Roy Allan Hassel of New Paltz. Also assisting are Robert Gilbert of Saugerties and Robert Tremper of Port Ewen.

Benjamin Franklin objected to selection of the bald eagle as national emblem of the United States. He suggested the wild turkey.

U. S. Officials Expect Decisive Turn in Viet Events Early 1967

Editor's note — How may the war in Viet Nam develop in coming months? The following story is the result of an investigation among high level Washington officials by John M. Fithower, Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter who heads the AP's State Department staff.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials hope to turn the tide of war decisively against Communist forces in South Viet Nam by early next year.

The hope is tentative and authorities concede it could be upset by adverse military or political developments in the months ahead.

Purpose of Planning
Nevertheless, it defines an important purpose of present strategic planning. President Johnson's advisers believe it represents a reasonable projection of the recent course of the war in Viet Nam plus the probable results to be obtained from the planned massive buildup of U.S. forces.

The critical point will be reached, strategists say, when manpower losses suffered by Communist forces under the pounding of American, South Vietnamese and allied troops and American planes begins to exceed the Communist capacity to replace manpower.

The estimate that this point can be reached by early next year is expected to figure in the strategic review and planning session soon to be held by President Johnson in connection with a return here for consultation of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge is due back May 9. It will be his first trip here in about nine months, though he conferred with Johnson and other administration leaders in Honolulu last February.

The tentatively scheduled buildup of U.S. forces, subject to periodic decision by President Johnson as specific reinforcement requests arrive from Saigon, will put the total at 400,000 or more by the end of the year.

One result of the buildup will be to increase the number of combat battalions as compared with supply and base-protection forces, greatly enlarging the search and destroy capacity of U.S. forces.

This is a principal reason why Johnson administration planners have now made the tentative assumption that around the turn of the year or early in 1967 Communist losses will exceed the ability of the Communists to maintain their manpower levels through recruitment and through infiltration of forces from North Viet Nam.

Other Factors
Officials say that achieving this point in turning the tide of the war depends on several other assumptions. One of these is that the developing political situation in South Viet Nam will not seriously impair military operations during the coming summer and fall. Not all Washington authorities agree that this is a reasonable assumption at this time, since recent demonstrations against the Saigon government slowed military operations.

Other important assumptions underlying the forecast of a turning point in the war are:
1. That the Viet Cong will not radically alter their strategy and seek to avoid combat in the months ahead in order to reduce their loss rate.
2. That North Viet Nam and Red China will not radically alter the major dimensions of the war by intervention which would expand it into a different kind of conflict.

Will Continue
In summary, the projection of a turning point is based on the assumption that the war will continue to develop along the lines which have characterized the conflict in recent months.

According to figures and rough estimates now available from officials here, the Viet Cong suffered manpower losses in killed, captured, wounded, and defections during the first four months of this year amounting to considerably more than 20,000 men. Government figures show a total of about 15,000 Communists killed in action and probably another 5,000 men counted as defectors.

In the same four months, however, the Viet Cong replacements were estimated at about 32,000, consisting of an infiltration of troops from North Viet Nam at 4,500 a month and recruitment in the South of guerrilla fighters, porters and the like at the rate of 3,500 per month.

Cong Increases
U. S. strategists agree that, as these figures suggest, Viet Cong forces still are increasing in spite of the fact that U.S. troops with their heavy firepower have been building up rapidly in South Viet Nam for a year now. American government estimates put Viet Cong main force strength at 47,750 in June 1965, 70,100 in December 1965, and 90,000 in April 1966. In addition, local guerrilla and supporting forces of the Communists are estimated at 100,000 to 120,000.

U.S. military authorities estimate that the Viet Cong forces now have 111 combat battalions at their disposal and will have 155 by the end of this year. At that level, U.S. experts say, the Communists probably will require about 150 tons of supplies daily.

The dominant view in administration planning is that heavy and sustained air strikes against the Communist supply lines do and will put a ceiling on replacement capacity and do limit the ability of the Viet Cong to maintain their strength.

U.S. authorities also assume that the Viet Cong's ability to recruit fighters in the countryside in South Viet Nam is limited and will decrease as the war goes against them.

Defections Increase
Similarly, authorities here say that Viet Cong defections increase and those of the South Vietnamese forces decrease in periods when relative political stability prevails in Saigon and when it appears that the Communists are being beaten militarily.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and various military leaders said toward the end of last year that "we have stopped losing the war."

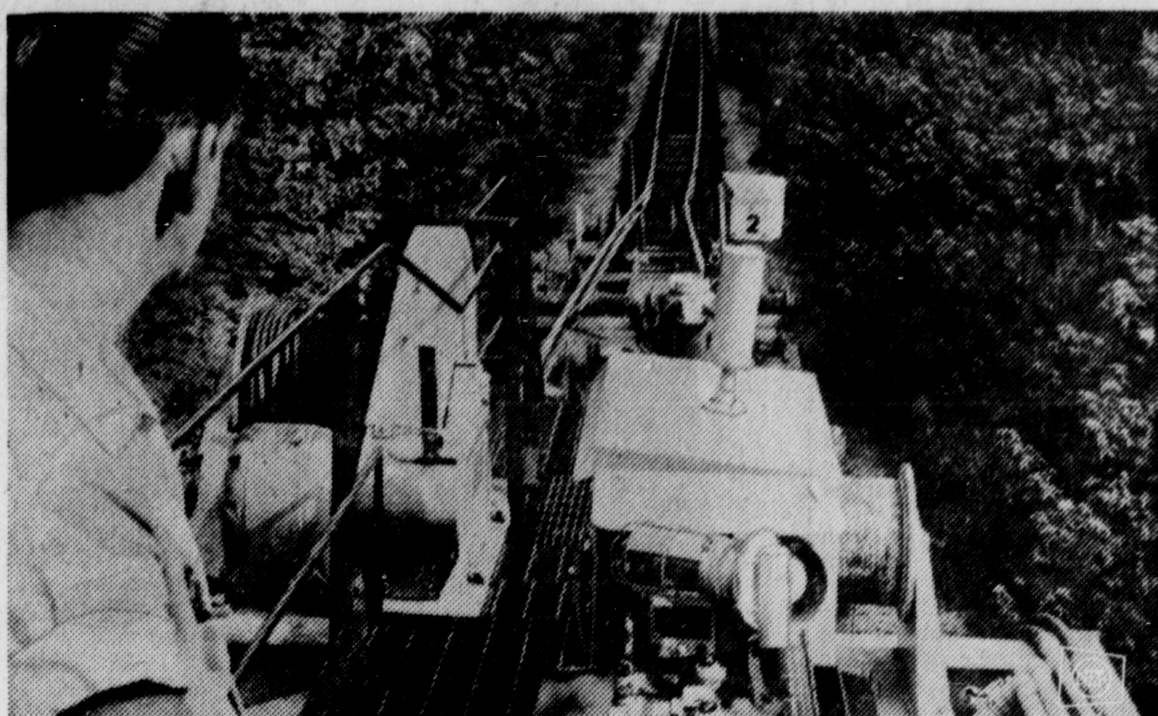

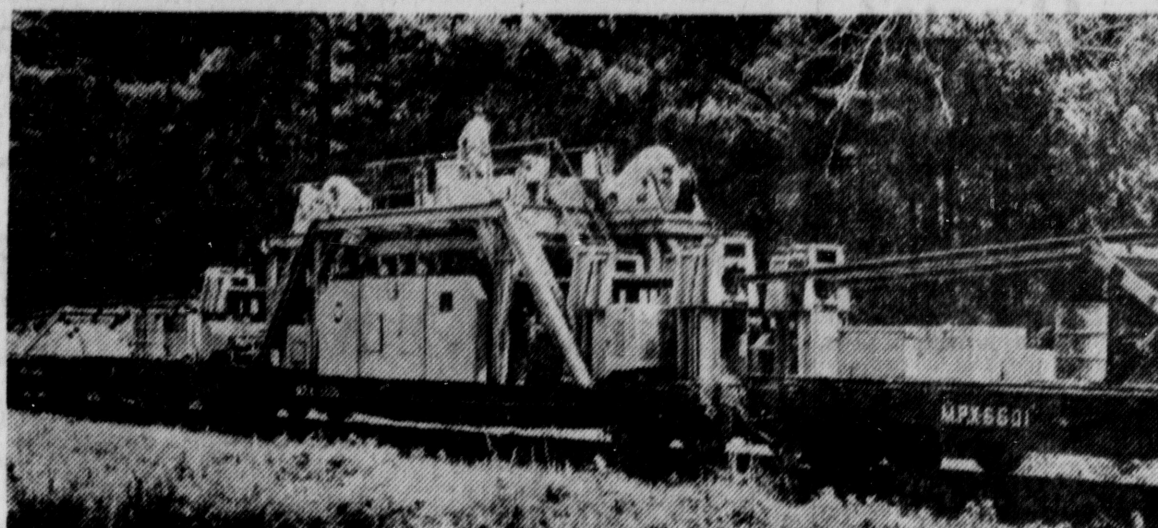

They have shied away, however, from making any over-all claims of victory or trying to lay down a blueprint for victory in the future.

The most that officials claim now for the point at which Viet Cong losses would begin to run ahead of replacements is that it should have a damaging effect on Viet Cong morale.

On the other hand, officials from President Johnson down are opposed to making more than tentative assumptions about future developments in Viet Nam which are beyond their control. They cannot rule out the possibility of a radical change in Communist strategy either to escalate the war, or to pull back from combat.

Slingerlands Man Killed
SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Hurley Jr., 30, of nearby Slingerlands, was injured fatally early today when his automobile veered out of control on Route 5 here and hit a brick wall of an automobile dealer's building.

Hurley died at Ellis Hospital here.

House Dems Raise Anti Poverty Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats writing new antipov-erty legislation have decided to boost President Johnson's money request by $245 million and put more emphasis on job training programs.

After weeks of private meetings, Democrats on the Education and Labor Committee agreed Wednesday night on a bill that would give Congress a lot more authority over how antipov-erty funds are spent.

The bill would boost the fund authorization for the Office of Economic Opportunity—OEO—to $1.99 billion. Johnson had asked for $1.75 billion. The current authorization is $1.5 billion. More significant for the future conduct of the war on poverty, however, is the increased control over the program that the bill would give Congress.

Senate Approves Rent Subsidies By 1-Vote Edge

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a one-vote margin, the Senate has approved funds for President Johnson's program of rent subsidies for low-income families.

But the administration and its Senate leaders had to use all their resources to get the votes needed for Wednesday's 46-45 victory authorizing $12 million in contract authority for the new program.

After that vote, the Senate passed, 72-12 a $2.8 billion supplemental money bill that included the rent subsidies funds.

Republicans led the floor fight against the new administration program, declaring that it was poorly prepared and could cost the federal government $6 billion over the next 40 years.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen cried that the subsidies are "sure to become noxious in American life."

Democrats contended that the new plan could do a better job of providing good homes for low-income families than the present low-rent public housing program.

The estimated subsidies of $40 a month for each family under the program would be less than the $58 which public housing now costs, they said.

First Revision Since 1787

Rockefeller Mum On Signing New Divorce Measure

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State, known for years as a hard place to dissolve a marriage legally, has a vastly more liberal divorce law today.

The Legislature approved and Gov. Rockefeller signed Wednesday a bill that adds new grounds to the state's 179-year-old divorce statute. The old law permitted divorce only on the ground of adultery.

Effective Sept. 1, 1967

It was the first revision of the divorce statute since 1787, when Alexander Hamilton drafted the bill that had defied attempts at change until this year.

The new law, which goes into effect on Sept. 1, 1967, will add the grounds of voluntary separation, abandonment, cruel or inhuman treatment, deviate sexual conduct and imprisonment of a spouse for a crime involving force or violence.

There was only mild dissent against the bill during the discussion in the Senate and Assembly.

Rockefeller, who was divorced in 1962 and later married a divorced woman, put his signature on the measure at Albany County Airport Wednesday night before flying to New York City. He issued no comment in signing the bill.

Only one senator, William J. Ferrall, D - Brooklyn, voted against the legislation. He refused to tell reporters why. There were 64 affirmative votes in the Senate.

7 Opposed in Assembly
In the Assembly, only seven members opposed the measure, while 152 voted for it.

Several efforts to amend the bi-partisan legislation were frustrated in both houses.

One of the chief sponsors of the bill—Sen. John H. Hughes, R-Syracuse—described the proposal as "probably as good a product as we could hope for in areas as controversial as this one."

Hughes delivered that assessment after explaining the terms of the bill in a hushed Senate chamber, where television cameras and news photographers were allowed in for the first time in Senate history.

Hughes also touched on the religious factors involved in divorce reform. He referred indirectly to the Roman Catholic Church's long-standing refusal to recognize civil divorce.

Hughes, chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee, observed that he, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia are Roman Catholics.

In icy tones, Hughes said that some "faceless" newspaper editorialists "took a dim view" of the fact that the leaders who drafted the divorce-reform bill were Roman Catholics.

"I'm an Irish Catholic and you know that's the worst kind," Hughes quipped with a smile.

Mayor Proclaims May 1-7 Week For Savings Bonds

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan today issued a proclamation noting local observance from May 1 through 7 of "25th Anniversary Savings Bond Week," and asked residents of the city "to take an active part in all observances befitting the recognition of this important phase of our American way of life."

Because the savings bond program has been part of the American scene for 25 years and has "contributed so vitally to the welfare of the nation, our state and this community," he said, it has helped to "provide the comforts and necessities of life for millions of people."

Saltonstall Son Dies of Cancer

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Leverett Saltonstall, Jr., son of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., has died of cancer at the age of 48.

Saltonstall died Wednesday in Tompkins County Hospital.

Saltonstall was an agronomist who operated his own farm. He was president of the Foundation Seed Corp. and formerly worked with the State Extension Service at Cornell University.

He was a native of Westwood, Mass., and earned degrees at Harvard University and the University of Kentucky. He received his doctorate in agronomy at Cornell in 1948 and served as an assistant professor of Agriculture until 1953.

The younger Saltonstall also was active in politics, but limited to the local level. A Republican like his father, he was a councilman in Dryden from 1958 to 1965. He also was a member of the Ithaca Board of Education.

He is survived by his widow, Nancy, and four children—Timothy, Peter, Constance and Alice, all of Ithaca.

He also leaves his parents; a brother, William, of Manchester, Mass., and two sisters, Miss Susan Saltonstall of Dover, Mass., and Mrs. Emily Saltonstall Byrd of Newton, Mass.

Private funeral services will be held in Ithaca with burial in the family plot in Salem, Mass.

Resnick Proposes Waiving School Tax for Elderly

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick on Wednesday introduced a new bill which will, in effect, excuse aged, low-income homeowners from paying higher local taxes if such tax increases are caused by local educational "skyrocketing" local property taxes throughout the nation are turning our reitred homeowners into an army of displaced persons by forcing them to sell their homes," Resnick said. "Spiraling taxes are also responsible for creating the hard core resistance to school bond issues that has been hamstringing school expansion in thousands of communities all over the country."

The plan would be optional with the individual states, with the federal government making direct grants to participating state educational agencies to make up for taxes. The bill is not retroactive and applies only to future increases in taxes. In order for a state educational agency to be eligible for a grant under the proposed measure it would have to provide an exemption from increased taxes for property owned by one or more persons in a family in which the family income was less than $3000 in the preceding calendar year and the head of the family was 65 years or older; or a single man 65 or over whose income for the preceding year was less than $3000; or an unmarried woman, including widows, 60 years or older whose income for the preceding calendar year was less than $3000. The Commissioner of Education would make a grant to the participating state educational agency equal to the total amount of tax revenue which would have been derived by local taxing authorities in the state were it not for the exclusion described above. The maximum amount that any state may be granted is 15% of the total public school expenditure of the state in the preceding fiscal year.

Hot Lava Threatens Blitar, East Java

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A volcanic eruption in heavily populated East Java has demolished one village and is threatening the town of Blitar, reports from the area said today.

The 5,678-foot volcano, Mt. Kelut, erupted Monday night. Nine persons have been reported killed so far, but the toll is considered certain to climb.

Civil defense and Red Cross officials in Jakarta, about 400 miles west of the area, have no details on casualties yet.

Antara, the official news agency, said the eruption wiped out the village of Bambunan, about two miles from the crater. It was not known how many persons lived there.

Civil defense officials said hot lava had reached the edge of Blitar, about 10 miles south of Mt. Kelut. The town, with a population of 28,000, is in an area where many of President Sukarno's relatives live.

Mom Answers Phone, One of Twins Drowns

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) —

A mother left her 18-month-old twins in the bathtub to go and answer a telephone call and returned to find that one had drowned.

Police said Mrs. Gary Ellis of Elmira told them she only talked for a few minutes. When she returned, she found David Alan Ellis floating face down in the water Tuesday, and her daughter, Darlene, playing in the tub.

Dr. Edward J. P. Droleski, a deputy Chemung County coroner, said four to six inches of water were in the tub. He ruled the death accidental.

Valenti Leaves Johnson, Faces Movie's Censors

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After working for Lyndon B. Johnson, Jack Valenti may consider his new job as movie czar a vacation. But he'll find plenty of work to do.

The special assistant to President Johnson was elected as the $100,000-a-year president of the Motion Picture Producers Association this week. He'll take over an office that is somewhat in disarray, having been unfilled since the death of Eric Johnston in 1963.

Work in New York

Valenti, whose headquarters will be in New York, will also face a formidable set of problems, the most serious ones concerning censorship.

The present situation harks back to why the job was created in the first place. In the 1920s, the bustling young film industry had no restraints. Some quick-buck producers purveyed nudity and blatant sex, much to the alarm of the nation's moralists.

The alarm became more general after a series of scandals involving important film names. The cry arose in pulpits and editorials against wicked Hollywood, and movie censor boards began to proliferate.

Hays First Head

The worried film moguls banded together in the Motion Picture Producers Association and hired Will Hays as president. As President Warren G. Harding's postmaster general and political chief, Hays had important connections in Washington and all over the country.

"Hays' chief function was to hold down the censor boards," says a veteran producer. "He had the political know-how, and he was strong enough to force the producers to clean up their pictures and make the stars behave."

Through the Production Code, the Hays office maintained firm control of film content until 1954, when Hays retired. He was succeeded by Eric Johnston, the glad-handing, global-thinking former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

"Johnston wasn't terribly concerned with film content," said an industry observer. "He spent little time in Hollywood and knew few of the movie makers. His job was largely international."

Expanded Market

"He performed the important function of freeing money that was frozen in foreign countries during and after the war. This was money that the film companies desperately needed. Johnston found ways to get it to them, and he also helped expand the global market."

Johnston paid little attention to the moral revolution that took place in films during his tenure. Franker films from abroad, shifting modes and the need to compete with television forced Hollywood to deal more realistically with sex.

Decisions by the Supreme Court helped the producers in their drive for freedom of the screen. But some protectors of public morals felt that movies have gone too far in depicting sex and restraints are needed.

The classification of films has been proposed to protect children from licentious movies. Such a system has long been employed in England and other countries. Sen. Margaret Chase Smith has announced hearings on the matter.

"That will be Jack Valenti's first job: dealing with the censors and classifiers," commented an observer. "He'll have his hands full."

The Constitution does not prescribe qualifications for membership in the Supreme Court.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:

Here is a little hint to comfort you girls with the upright hair dryers:

Instead of stuffing cotton or tissues over your ears, under your hairnet, try using two of the large hair spray TOPS (the ones that are as large around as the can), preferably the plastic ones.

It works great!

You can turn the dryer up hotter, it's usually your ears that burn not your scalp.

This also cuts a great deal of the noise.

A Reader

That's a "real cool" idea if I ever heard one! My hair dryer is a portable one with a big plastic cap, and the idea works with it, too.

And know what? I stuffed both can lids with a wad of cotton this week and it really cuts down the noise.

You're a cutie for dreaming up that one.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Being a novice at crocheting, I had worn my instruction book almost threadbare.

Then I discovered that by slipping it (open at pattern being worked) in a clear plastic bag, I could read the instructions quite well and save wear and tear on the book.

Mrs. E. Adams

Dear Heloise:

If your baby is at the "I-do-it-myself" stage and doesn't like you to feed him.

Spread the MEAT from his baby food jar on a cracker! Then everybody is happy.

Clare L. Wilson

Dear Heloise:

Buy an extra long-handled nylon bristle brush (that is usually used in the bathroom).

Here's why:

Do you have rough walls that are so popular? Ever scrape your knuckles bare trying to wash those walls—only to find you are left with a shredded cloth or sponge and a dirty wall?

If so, this type of brush is really a life-saver. It gets into the crevices, saves on back bending and does a beautiful wall-cleaning job.

And you can use scalding hot water with a strong detergent because you don't even get your hands wet. All that's left is a rinse and wipe job.

Be sure to put papers on the floor to catch drips.

Mrs. Jim Gealova

Dear Heloise:

Instead of folding your husband's underwear, roll it! Put shorts on top of undershirt, then fold the "T" shirt in thirds lengthwise, and roll.

These rolls are neater in the bureau drawer and more con-

Hults Hails Ruling On Car Inspections

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The head of State Motor Vehicle Department says he is "delighted" with a new law that mandates safety inspections for all motor vehicles — of any age — in New York State.

Commissioner William S. Hults reports, however, that details have not been settled yet on a timetable for inspecting the approximately 2½ million late-model cars added to the state's existing inspection program.

Gov. Rockefeller signed legislation Tuesday that requires all motor vehicles to be inspected on a yearly basis.

Previously, an annual inspection was necessary only for autos four or more years old or if a car, regardless of age, was to be resold.

The late-model provision goes into effect next Oct. 1 and — technically, at least — vehicles could not be registered for 1967 unless they had been inspected.

A spokesman for the department said Wednesday that it was unlikely the provision would apply for 1967 because it would be virtually impossible to inspect all of the late-model vehicles before the registration deadlines.

The spokesman said that several alternate inspection programs were being considered but that "no positive idea" had emerged from the discussions.

Under the former law, vehicles were inspected on an age basis—oldest cars were inspected in January and progressively newer vehicles inspected in the succeeding months.

The spokesman said various ideas were under consideration, including inspection dates fixed by registration numbers or expiration dates on an alphabetical timetable.

There are approximately 9,000 state-approved inspection stations now, the spokesman said, and it probably will not be necessary to add any to handle the extra load. He noted that approved inspection stations are added frequently, at any rate.

The inspection costs $2 in New York City and $1.50 elsewhere in the State. It covers brakes, lights, steering gear, wheel alignment, glass, windshield wipers and tires. If a vehicle fails, the owner must obtain repairs and submit the vehicle for another inspection.

In another auto-safety development, the governor also signed Wednesday a bill that would mandate that automobiles—beginning with 1968 models—be equipped with dual braking systems.

The mechanical device gives a vehicle a spare braking system, if the main system should malfunction.

The cost to the manufacturer for such a system has been estimated at about $15.

Sen. Simon J. Liebowitz, D-Brooklyn, a sponsor of the legislation, said he had been advised that the device consisted of alterations to the brake-fluid lines and cylinders.

'Lamp' Colorful, Not Too Exciting

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Lamp At Midnight" was one of those well-intentioned period pieces of which NBC's "Hall Of Fame" series is so fond. As historical dramas are wont to do, it zipped along Wednesday night with the speed of an arctic glacier.

More Fun for Actors

It was full of stately trappings and ornate, oratorical prose but often during important scenes, one had a distinct impression that the actors were having a lot more fun than the spectators.

There was Melvyn Douglas, playing old Galileo, a 16th-century scientist and astronomer from the middle of so much makeup that he looked something like the cowardly lion of "The Wizard Of Oz." David Wayne, who usually plays a jaunty leprechaun type of fellow, was cast as a cruel fanatic priest determined to bring Galileo to his knees if not the stake for heresy.

The story had Galileo making a telescope lens so strong it reinforced his belief in the Copernican theory that the earth revolves around the sun. This brought him, a devout Christian, into headlong conflict with his church's doctrine that the earth is the center of the universe.

Galileo ultimately disavowed his theory during the Inquisition period, but for reasons not made too clear. But the basic message of the program apparently was that truth will out.

Well Produced

It was a handsome program with colorful costumes and lofty interiors. It was well produced and had a point of view. But it was also very long and without much surprise or excitement.

ABC's John Scali, narrating a news special Wednesday night called "Red China: Year Of The Gun?" hedged his answer to the program's big question. It is possible, he admitted, and mentioned what he called "disturbing signs" like the movement of

But Let Lieutenants Speak Out

President Fully Expected Critics to Howl on Bombing

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson could see what was coming in big doses when earlier this year he ordered the bombing of North Viet Nam resumed and decided to step up the war. What was coming was criticism.

Jumped on Decision

In fact, it was already there and had been for months. But the critics of his Viet Nam policy, already plentiful and vocal, seized upon his decisions this year for fresh outbursts. Johnson had been around long enough to know they would.

He also had been around long enough to know that unless he met this criticism head-on himself it would get worse and that more than just answering the critics was involved.

In the first place, the more the criticism and the longer it went unanswered, the more confused Americans would become about the war, which meant a division of opinion in this country.

Second overseas people, particularly the Communists, would be aware of divided American thinking and, in the case of the Communists, there was the chance they might interpret the division as a weakening of the will to win.

Opinion Took Many Forms

The divided opinion took many forms: U.S. forces should stay in Viet Nam, they should get out; the bombing should be stopped; it should be intensified; the Americans should retire to coastal bases, and they should do the opposite.

If Johnson had gone on national television for one hour he could have explained his policy, why he thought it necessary to fight the war, what it meant to the United States, to Viet Nam, to Southeast Asia, to the Communists.

Once he did this, of course, he would have been a rallying point and a prime target — a rallying point for all those who agreed with him or thought he should be supported; a target for those who disagreed.

In the weeks that followed his words would have been flung back at him by his critics and if events took a sour turn, as they did with the revolt of the Buddhists, some of his words might have been turned against him.

In short, for Johnson to have laid it on the line himself on television in a detailed and lengthy explanation would have been to stick his neck out.

He has let his lieutenants — like Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and others — do the explaining about American policy and intentions.

The only trouble about such explanations is this:

1. They turn into a patch quilt, with Humphrey throwing in something now, Rusk adding something later, someone else contributing a bit some other time.

2. The explanations, particularly Rusk's, with all their diplomatic phrasing — like saying this country could live with a "nonaligned" South Viet Nam — are sometimes far from clear.

The result is that the American people, and people overseas, have to try to put the pieces together which is quite different from the kind of comprehensive picture they might have had if Johnson did the explaining.

By staying in the background Johnson has saved himself from expanded personal attacks but that doesn't necessarily make his comparative silence the wiser policy.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Profits of U.S. corporations are averaging 11 per cent higher than a year ago. If this gain holds, the total net income after taxes for all 1966 would rise to more than $48 billion from last year's $44.5 billion. Very rarely have first quarter results been more pleasing for the nation's 20 million individual shareholders.

Only 19 of 132 Trailing

The first 132 of the nation's larger corporations to report on first quarter earnings show only 19 trailing a year ago. The total for the 132 is $3,054,596,000 against $2,748,958,000 in the first three months of 1965.

The giants have impressive figures. Six companies so far have reported first three months' profits in excess of $100 million. These are: American Telephone & Telegraph $455 million, Jersey Standard $294 million, Texaco $176 million, Gulf Oil $127 million, IBM $124 million, du Pont $102 million.

The steel industry is the chief dropout from the profits parade in the first quarter. Nine companies to report so far show a combined drop of 17.5 per cent from the 1965 level. Some big companies were considerably behind the average. U.S. Steel trailed a year ago by 32 per cent and Youngstown Sheet & Tube by 35 per cent.

See Better Comparison

But the steel industry expects the comparison with last year to look much better when the entire 1966 results are in, that is because last year's first quarter was unusually good, due to big orders by customers stockpiling against the threat of a strike. Oil companies reporting so far are up without exception. Gulf Oil gained 18.6 per cent over year ago figures. Jersey Standard was up 11.7 per cent. Phillips Petroleum had record profits for the first quarter.

Most railroads are well ahead this year. Norfolk & Western being 12 per cent in front of the 1965 first quarter. Two that were out of step were Southern Railway and Seaboard Air Line, both showing a decline this year in profits, and blaming bad weather.

With only two exceptions, the 14 big utilities to report so far topped year-ago figures. Down were Consolidated Edison of New York and El Paso Natural Gas.

Profit Margins Hold

Some of the big corporations to show better-than-average profit increases this year were: Zenith radio, up 62 per cent; General Electric, up 17 per cent; New York Central, up 398 per cent; RCA, up 24 per cent; Continental Can and American Can, both up 56 per cent; General Tire & Rubber, up 33 per cent; Merck & Co., up 35 per cent; Allis-Chalmers, up 57 per cent; Xerox, up 6 per cent; Polaroid, up 136 per cent; Corning Glass, up 45 per cent; Reynolds Metals, up 40 per cent; Magnavox, up 46 per cent; Mack Trucks, up 92 per cent; and Burroughs, up 54 per cent.

Heartening to most company managements was that profit margins held up well. Productivity — unit output per labor cost — continued to rise. Some companies are predict-

Committees Formed By Planning Board

Several new committee appointments were made at this week's monthly meeting of the Ulster County Planning Board.

Reiner Theiben was appointed to the Conservation and Recreation Committee, John O'Sullivan of Rosendale was appointed chairman of the Transportation Committee, Benjamin Webster, Woodstock, chairman of the Conference on Natural Beauty, announced his committee members: Deyo Johnson, Ellenville; William Van Benschoten, Esopus, and Wilbur Peters, Hurley.

Thomas Polizzi was named chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee on Federal and State Aid Programs. Kenneth Clarke of Rosendale and Trieben of Gardiner will assist Polizzi on this committee.

The Conference on natural beauty has been rescheduled for September 17, and will be co-sponsored by New Paltz State University and held there. More information will be made available at a later date. Interested citizens are invited to contact the Planning Board.

Charges Fish Is Ducking Aldrich Talk in Dutchess

"We've given Hamilton Fish Jr. every opportunity to debate with Sam Aldrich in the other four counties of the district, but Mr. Fish so far has denied Sam an equal opportunity for open debate in Dutchess County," said Kingston attorney John L. Larkin, Congressional campaign chairman for Alexander Aldrich.

Larkin supported his statement with a list of times and places where Aldrich has met Fish in open debate. The list is as follows:

Catskill Young Republican Club, Greene County Feb. 17; Town of Esopus Republican Club in Port Ewen, Ulster County, March 16; East Durham Republican Club, Greene County March 17; Over Channel 17 TV, Schenectady on March 17 (this is beamed to the northern counties of the 28th district); Marletown Republican Club at High Falls, Ulster County April 7; West Hurley Republican Club, Ulster County April 12.

"On Wednesday, April 27," Larkin added, "Sam has agreed to debate with his Dutchess County opponent before the Hudson Republican Club in his own home county of Columbia."

"Isn't it strange that Mr. Aldrich is both willing and able to face Mr. Fish in an open debate in Columbia, Ulster, Schoharie and Greene counties," Larkin said, "but that Mr. Fish has yet to face Mr. Aldrich in his supposedly home county of Dutchess?"

Says Date Refused

"It is a well-known fact," Larkin continued, "that on Feb. 28 Mr. Fish refused even to appear with Mr. Aldrich, no less to debate him, before the Town of Northeast Republican Club in Dutchess County. It is further revealed," Larkin noted, "that although he accepted an invitation to appear with Mr. Aldrich before the Town of LaGrange on March 31 Mr. Fish failed to show up."

"I am also told that despite a continued attempt by the Dutchess County Young Republican Club to arrange a public debate between the two men, Fish refuses to set a date," Larkin said.

We hope
you never receive a malicious or annoying phone call.

But if you should,
here is what you can do,
and what we will do to help

We're deeply concerned that some people are receiving malicious or obscene phone calls.

The majority of such harassing calls are made by misguided people. The best way to stop them is simply to hang up. But if the calls persist, please follow these suggestions:

- If the caller uses obscenity or doesn't properly identify himself or says nothing, hang up. Don't keep on talking. That's what he wants.
- Call your Telephone Business Office if you are harassed again.

HERE'S HOW WE WILL HELP:

- Our Business Office personnel throughout the state are specially trained to assist you.
- In difficult cases, our Annoyance Call Bureau will work closely with you and police officials to catch offenders.
- This special action group can arrange to:
 - Trace such calls.
 - Intercept calls to a harassed customer.
 - Interview the customer from whose phone the calls were made.
 - Terminate service of the telephone from which calls originated.

We believe this campaign will assure continuing progress toward the elimination of annoyance calls.

The New York Penal Law makes it a misdemeanor to use the telephone to make obscene remarks to a woman or child, or to threaten to commit a crime against any person. The penalty can be imprisonment for one year, and a $500 fine.

Governor Ponders Bill on Conflict

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller had on his desk today a bill that would require full disclosure of the names and holdings of all persons connected with limited-profit housing projects.

The measure, which was approved by the Senate last week, received final legislative approval Wednesday in the Assembly.

The bill provides that housing corporations receiving state or municipal assistance must file statements listing the names of all persons having any interest in the project. Stockholders must list the amount of their investments.

Assemblyman S. William Green, R-Manhattan, sponsor of the bill, said investigations were under way of several housing projects, in which influential politicians have financial interests.

The Assembly also approved Wednesday a bill that would require the State Housing Commissioner and the supervising municipal agency to appoint representatives to the boards of directors of state-aided projects under construction by companies owned by tenant-stockholders.

Green said the full-disclosure measure, an amendment to the private housing finance law, would prevent "politically-connected" persons from hiding their financial participation in housing corporations.

He criticized the construction-representatives bill, however, as "adding another layer of bureaucracy to a program already encumbered with red tape."

Would Exempt Those 100, Over From Taxes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Because a 103-year-old woman faces eviction for refusing to pay any more taxes in her lifetime, a Democratic assemblyman proposes to exempt persons over 100 from real estate taxes.

Assemblyman Jesl D. Sabatino of Queens filed the proposed measure Wednesday with the Assembly Rules Committee for introduction in the Legislature.

He said it was intended to protect Mrs. Mary Callaghan Purcell, who has refused to pay taxes on her house in Astoria, Queens, and who is $2,000 in arrears.

The city is seeking to evict Mrs. Purcell and sell her house at public auction. She would receive the proceeds, minus the amount owed in back taxes.

The measure, if enacted, would be retroactive to Dec. 31, 1960, when Mrs. Purcell stopped paying taxes.

She maintained that she had paid enough taxes over her lifetime to New York City, Sabatino said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York State Department of Commerce is the recipient of a $13,206 federal grant to finance preparation of a growth plan for the central New York town of Lee.

The grant, plus $4,404 in state and local contributions, was made Wednesday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Dear Abby . . .

'See That Guy? — He's My Husband'

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a cocktail waitress with a small problem. I am not married, but am not interested in dating because I have a boy friend overseas I'm trying to be true to. Well, you know how some men are. Some of them just won't take no for an answer. I don't like to get nasty about it, but it's pretty hard to turn them down without telling them off. Besides, it's rough on a girl's tips when she has to put a guy in his place. Any suggestions?

SAVING MYSELF
DEAR SAVING: Just point out the huskiest bartender in the place and tell the wolves that HE'S your husband.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is to be married soon. It will be a large wedding in a fairly large church. Here is the problem: We really have no family. I was an only child. My mother was an orphan. My husband is from a distant part of the country from a poor family. What is left of his family cannot attend the wedding. We do not have many friends and our side of the church will look very empty.

We are terribly embarrassed as there will be only a handful on our side and the bride's family and friends will number nearly 200. We're red-faced and sick about it, and fear we will be laughed at. I don't know what you can do, but thought I'd try for an answer. Thank you.

RED-FACED

DEAR RED-FACED: You have no reason to be embarrassed. Your family is small and you are not the type of people to invite casual acquaintances to your son's wedding, for which you should be commended. Since the bride's people are paying for it, I am willing to bet you will not be laughed at.

Start Major Shuffle Of Mental Hygiene

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The state mental hygiene commissioner began a major reorganization of the Department of Mental Hygiene today with the appointments of three men to high-level posts.

Dr. Alan D. Miller promoted Hyman M. Fortenzer of Albany to second deputy commissioner of the department's central office. The post, newly created in the recently announced reorganization, pays $22,944 a year.

Fortenzer has been an assistant commissioner for mental health resources and policy planning since 1963.

Dr. Hyman Pleasure was appointed, deputy commissioner

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my sister gave us a washing machine that had been given to her by a neighbor. The neighbor got a new one as the old one needed too much work. Well, this washing machine has been out on our patio for over two years. My husband looked at it and decided it needed more work than he could give it right now. Rather than let it stand, I put it up for sale. (I asked 35 dollars). When my sister heard about it she flew over here and raised the roof. She said SHE could have sold it, and she wanted it back. I told her I was sorry about the whole thing, but I didn't think I had done anything wrong. She wasn't out a dime on the deal. So what's her beef?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Technically your sister has no grounds for complaint. She GAVE you the machine, therefore it's yours to use, sell, give away or throw away. (Her "beef" isn't kosher.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone should tell Mary C. that New England housewives certainly DO hang their clothes outside in freezing weather. I often have to shovel a path to my clothesline, and the clothes are frozen stiff as boards before I even get the second pin in them.

for local services, another new post. The salary is $28,944 a year. Pleasure has served as director of the Middletown State Hospital since 1955.

Robert E. Patton was named to a newly created post as associate commissioner for program planning and coordination. Patton, of Delmar, has been director of statistical services since 1956. The annual salary is $22,800.

Ticket Is Closed Sans Faubus, May Try in Senate

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus flopped back in his swivel chair and grinned. "I guess they'll believe I'm out of it now," he said.

The Democratic gubernatorial primary ticket had closed without Faubus' name on it for the first time since 1952, and Faubus now may be the most relaxed politician in Arkansas.

Many doubted until the ticket closed that Faubus could keep his promise to stay out of the race. He had indicated until about three weeks ago that he might run again — for a seventh term — if the Democratic party failed to produce a candidate he considered capable of challenging Republican Winthrop Rockefeller.

Faubus' retirement may be temporary. He has indicated an interest in running for the U. S. Senate, possibly against Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., in 1968.

Eight candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination.

Too Much to Bear

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — Trouble was a bruin and there's a limit to what a man can bear, explained the farmer to the judge.

Paul Guillot, 71, pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of shooting a bear out of season but said the 200-pound beast had chased his cattle three times and he had chased the animal out of his pasture twice before killing it.

Judge Frederick Ellis fined Guillot $25 but suspended the fine, saying he would have let the bear trespass only once.

Resume Search For Peru Plane, 5 Yanks Aboard

LIMA, Peru (AP)—A search resumed today for the wreckage of a Peruvian airliner which apparently crashed in the Andes Mountains with 49 persons aboard. Five were Americans.

The four-engine Lineas Aereas Nacionales Constellation disappeared Wednesday on a 375-mile flight from Lima to Cuzco.

The Lima airport said the plane radioed a distress call 10 minutes after taking off, and police at Cuzco said they had a report it crashed at Cocolococha, 170 miles south of Lima.

The airline said the plane carried 43 passengers and a crew of 60.

The Americans were the pilot, William Jones of Miami, Fla., three Peace Corps volunteers — Gerald Francis Flynn, 26, of Seattle, Wash., Paul L. Bond, 24, of Jonesboro, Ark., and Troy M. Ross, 25, of Boise, Idaho — and George A. Hoffman, 42, a geologist.

Flynn and Bond were based in Ecuador and Ross in Cuzco.

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — David L. Lehigh, 25, is an Army sergeant who has been in Viet Nam since the first week in April.

But the Selective Service board notified him in a letter recently that he has been reclassified and will not have to enter the armed forces, his wife said.

New Medicare Form Will Aid Doctor, Patient

A single, easy-to-fill-out form for older people and physicians to use in requesting payment under the medicare program was announced today by George Habernig, social security district manager.

The "Request for Payment" form will be used for claims under the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the medicare program, Habernig said. Beginning July 1, people 65 and older who are enrolled for the voluntary insurance, will get payment for 80 per cent of their doctor bills, and other medical expenses, after they have met the first $50 of these expenses.

There will be two ways to claim payment for doctor bills and other medical services covered under the medical insurance part of medicare. The same form will be used for either method.

Under one method, the doctor will bill the patient, and after the patient has paid the bill, the patient will claim reimbursement. Under the other method, if the doctor and patient agree, the doctor will send in the claim and receive payment. This method of requesting payment can be used where all or any part of a medical bill still remains to be paid.

Under the payment-to-patient method, the patient will fill in the top half of the form and attach the doctor's itemized receipted bills. He will need to ask the doctor to fill out the bottom of the form only if the receipted bills do not give the necessary basic facts about the services supplied and when and where they were furnished. Under the payment-to-doctor method, the patient will fill in the top half of the "Request for Payment" form and give the form to the doctor. The doctor will fill in the bottom half of the form and send the form to the organization which will be handling medical insurance benefits in that area of the country.

If the payment-to-doctor method is used, the doctor agrees to accept the amount paid to him by the medical insurance program as 80 per cent of his total bill, over and above the $50 deductible amount — that he will collect from the patient no more than the remaining 20 per cent, plus any part of the $50 deductible still owed him.

Copies Mailed in June Habernig said that a sample form and a copy that the older person can use in making his first claim will be included in "Your Medicare Handbook," a detailed instruction book that will be mailed in June to all persons entitled to hospital insurance and medical insurance benefits under the medicare program.

Additional copies of the forms will also be available at physicians' offices and all social security offices, and at offices of the organizations in each area who have been selected to receive and pay bills under the medical insurance program.

Find Two Guilty In Murder Plot

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) —

A man and woman, who, the prosecution said, planned to have the woman's husband killed and then run off together, were found guilty of a conspiracy to commit first-degree murder.

After deliberating 3½ hours Wednesday, an Erie County Court Jury delivered its verdict against Mrs. Peggy Jo Joht, 23, and Robert C. Pitz, 25, both of Buffalo.

Judge Jacob A. Latona set May 18 for sentencing. He continued Mrs. Joht on $3,500 surety bail. Pitz was remanded to jail pending the posting of bail.

Each could be sentenced up to seven years in prison.

Two police officers testified they posed has hired killers and that the two defendants paid them money in late 1964 to murder Paul E. Joht, 26.

The prosecuting attorney maintained in court the defendants conspired to have Joht killed and collect his insurance.

They then planned to run off together to Las Vegas, he added. One of the police officers testified that Mrs. Joht, the mother of a 6-month-old son, told him that her husband mistreated her, refused to give her a divorce and that she wanted to be free of him.

Joht, who testified that he still loves his wife, said he did not believe that she plotted to kill him.

Assembly Backs Gotham Mayor in Moses' Dispute

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Assembly backed New York Mayor John V. Lindsay Wednesday in his dispute with Robert Moses over the route of an expressway in Brooklyn.

The Democratic-dominated Assembly approved a bill that would amend the state highway law by deleting the Bushwick Expressway from the state arterial system and replacing it with the Cross-Brooklyn Expressway.

Moses wants the new highway to run along Bushwick Avenue, while Lindsay favors a route moving along a Long Island Railroad right-of-way.

The Moses-backed route would have required demolition of hundreds of homes in Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia's district. Travia backed the Lindsay plan and amended the original bill to make the expressway eligible for federal aid of 90 per cent of the $172-million cost.

The Assembly also passed two bills aimed at reducing overcrowded conditions in the women's house of detention in Greenwich Village. One would allow the State Correction Department to build a detention facility in New York City. The second would permit the department to lease facilities to any city or county for confinement of female prisoners. Another measure approved by the Assembly would establish a State University medical school in Queens. All four bills were sent to the Senate.

Now is the time to take action against the outmoded state law that restricts Savings Bank branches.

Last year, the Savings Banks of New York State paid one billion, two hundred and twenty six million dollars in interest-dividends to their depositors.

Last year, Savings Bank mortgage money—billions of dollars in loans—financed homes for nearly 500,000 residents of New York State.

Last year, Savings Banks brought new growth money—new construction—new jobs to every community in which they operate.

But with all this new strength poured into the economy by Savings Banks—millions of people still didn't get their share of Grow-Power.

Why? Because an outmoded state law restricts the number and location of Savings Bank branches.

Other banks are not bound by similar restrictions. In one county, for example, the population has doubled in the last ten years and has now passed 880,000.

Yet no new Savings Bank branch offices have been permitted to open in that county in 70 years... while 57 commercial bank offices have opened in the past 7 years alone!

The time has come to end this discrimination against Savings Banks. The time has come for New York State to take action against the outmoded banking law.

NOW is the time to change the law and let ALL the people of New York State enjoy their fair share of Grow-Power!

Ask Fact-Finding Arbitration for Nurses Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of nurses at city hospitals who are threatening mass resignations have said they will ask for fact-finding arbitration if the city does not negotiate a new contract with them today.

Mary Finnin, assistant executive director of the New York State Nurses Association, said Wednesday night at a mass meeting that this is the city's last chance. About 1,300 cheering nurses attended the meeting. Meanwhile, the number of nurses who have resigned climbed to 1,124 of the 3,180 nurses in the city hospitals. The resignations are effective May 23. Their contract with the city expired Dec. 31, 1965.

Among the group's demands are increases in salary from $5-150 to $6,400 for beginning nurses and raises of up to $3,000 annually for supervisors; time-and-a-half for overtime and double-time for holidays; a 35-hour week, and an increase in uniform allowance.

Bids LBJ Act, Not Talk on Budget Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen challenged President Johnson today to act — and not just talk — about the $3 billion the President fears Congress is going to boost his budget.

Johnson said at a White House ceremony Wednesday that the way things are going "it looks like they may up the budget $3 billion this year" over the $113 billion spending budget he recommended for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

If that happens, Dirksen said in an interview, it will be all the fault of Democrats in Congress who owe political allegiance to the President.

Boy Scout News Cubs Will March In Annual Parade On Memorial Day

George Economos, new cubmaster of St. Joseph's Cub Pack 3, announced that the cub pack will march in the Kingston Memorial Day Parade. He also said that there will be an August Cub Scout Day at Camp Trilmont, East Jewett.

Economos introduced Mrs. Michele Forte, a new den mother. He discussed charter renewal and said that a charter night date announcement would be forthcoming.

The following advancements were made: Michael Matthews, Wolf with gold and silver arrow; Larry Devine, silver arrow on Wolf; Brian Blowers, Bear; Anthony Pagliaro, silver arrow on Bear; Mark Blowers, Vincent Servello and Pagliaro, Lion; and James Economos, Francis O'Neill and Joseph Conlin, Webelos.

Dens 1 and 2 received den flags and den leaders were asked to make flag poles.

The skit for the evening was on the theme of nature given by Den 4 under the direction of Mrs. John Devine, den mother.

Carl Thurin gave recognition to William Winslow for having received his scout's training award.

The closing ceremony was given by the Webelos Den led by Thurin.

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Three cases were disposed of in County Court Wednesday when pleas of guilty were received by County Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt appeared for the prosecution.

Oudal Benjamin Acosta, 23, and Harry Turell, 22, who are serving a five-year term at the Eastern Correctional Institution at Napanoch, entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and were given 21 days in jail, that being the time they have been confined to jail. They were indicted for illegal possession of a firearm and petit larceny arising out of the allegation that they had entered a car of a Napanoch guard which was parked in the area. They allegedly opened the locked car with a wire device, took cigarettes and then forced the glove compartment lock where they found the gun. They had been on a work detail outside the prison wall but the gun was discovered before they were able to get it inside the prison. Saul Althoff appeared for defendants. They will be returned to Napanoch to serve out the sentence.

George M. Leonard Jr., also known as Mickey, who was charged with entering a Foxhall Avenue tavern, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry and petit larceny. He was represented by Marshall Lipton. Sentence will be imposed on May 4.

Three Poughkeepsie men accused of holding up a Ohioville liquor store last Dec. 1, and assaulting Fred Woolsey, appeared and Assistant District Attorney Vogt moved the case ready for trial. The trio is Harold Delano Lee, Thurman Lee and James Samuel Woods. Harold Lee is represented by Ward Ingalsbe; Thurman Lee by Francis Martucci and Woods by George Beck. They were charged with first degree robbery; second degree assault and second degree grand larceny.

Also moved for trial was a grand larceny, first degree; unauthorized use of a motor vehicle; unlawfully issuing a fraudulent check and petit larceny charge against Harold Waterman. He allegedly took a car from the Schaller gas station and drove it to Alabama. Marshall Lipton appears for defendant.

Rundown Due House On Prototype Auto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee studying auto safety gets a rundown today on development of a prototype safety car from a group of New York officials, including State Sen. Edward Speno.

The concept received an enthusiastic endorsement in advance Wednesday when a witness urged the federal government to give it financial support.

President Joseph Kelner of the American Trial Lawyers Association told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, "This is a vital, exciting, life-saving project which will form the basis of standards, tests and safety information for consumers and the government."

Wilson Envoy Returns

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's special envoy, Oliver Wright, flew home from Africa today with the groundwork laid for talks aimed at ending the Rhodesian crisis.

Meanwhile, another British troubleshooter, Malcolm MacDonald, prepared to leave on a mission to persuade the political leaders of black Africa that the coming talks with the rebel regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith will not constitute a British sellout to Rhodesian white supremacists.

Wright arranged the negotiations in secret contacts with Smith and with Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd of South Africa.

See Food Prices Unpredictable

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices in the nation's food markets this week are about as unpredictable as the weather.

And shoppers who are basing some hope of lower food bills this summer on the weather are holding their breath.

A cold snap in the Pacific Northwest dropped temperatures to well below freezing in some areas, causing some damage to the pea crop and to sweet cherries, apricots, plums and early apples. Plums were badly hurt in some Oregon areas. The cold slowed the Northwestern asparagus harvest.

Freezes also have damaged the sweet cherries in Michigan. The Florida citrus crop is coming along fine, but needs rain. So does the whole Northeast—dried by a five-year drought.

Tornadoes ripped through the Tampa, Lakeland and Winter Haven areas of Florida earlier this month, but caused little damage to the fruit.

In Wisconsin, it has been too wet and too cool, slowing pea planting.

A big item in the mounting food bills for months has been meat.

Pork played a major role. Prices reached high levels during the winter when production was down.

As consumers switched to other meats, the prices of the substitutes rose, too.

Markings are near their usual spring peak, and prices have declined.

Scouts Schedule Rescue and Hunt During Weekend

Shaping up as one of the most intensive preparedness programs ever conducted in Boy Scouting in Ulster County is the big Rescue and Search Training Mission scheduled this weekend. Participating in the event, which will take place in mountainous terrain, will be 75 Boy Scouts from all seven troops in the Ontario Central School District and 10 members of the Civil Air Patrol.

Meet Friday at 5:30

Working in conjunction with CAP, Scouts will mobilize in the Broadhead area of West Shokan Friday at 5:30 p. m. with Edward Muller of Lake Katrine serving as liaison officer between Scout leaders and CAP. The boys will set up camp sites for all troops during the first evening of operations. Saturday's program will see Scouts receiving instruction on how to properly conduct search operations. During the entire day, each troop will be accompanied through the woods by a CAP cadet, operating a walkie-talkie.

Plans also call for a base communications camp in the rear to add reality to the search atmosphere. Scouts participating will be searching for actual persons, men and/or boys who have been purposely "lost" in the woods.

Training for the Future

Officers involved in directing the mission said the purpose of the Rescue and Search Day is to train Scouts for future emergencies in adult life. Many of the boys may someday be called upon to join search parties as volunteer firemen or members of other groups, they said. Receiving training at an early age in rescue and search mission work will stand them in good stead, their leaders feel, while highlighting the Scouting theme of Preparedness.

Also participating in the mission will be six Boy Scouts from Troop 6, Kingston, who will act as observers and evaluators during the mission which will cover two nights, an entire day and a portion of another day.

Following the completion of Saturday's search, a large area-wide campfire will be built, an awards presentation ceremony will be held, and Scouts will participate in songs and other activities. The encampment will break up sometime Sunday morning, after Protestant Scouts have held a field service and Catholic Scouts have returned from being transported to 9:15 a. m. Mass at the West Shokan Chapel.

LBJ to Houston

President Johnson plans to fly to Houston, Tex., tonight for a reception and dinner for persons who contributed $1,000 or more to Democratic campaigns. He is scheduled to return to Washington immediately after the dinner.

The salary range for most federal accountant, auditor and internal revenue agent positions is increased in an attempt to lure more college graduates into government service.

CONTROVERSIAL BRICKS—One of the truck loaders, Clarence Ressler, displays two of the out-of-state facing bricks to be used in the construction of Ulster County Community College buildings at Stone Ridge. Arrival of the first carload of the reportedly non-union made Virginia brick at a Rosendale siding generated a storm of controversy. The first carload was part shipment of a consignment reported to be about 350,000.

In his statement today Supervisor Sanguinelli said:

"At the Board of Supervisors meeting this past month there was much heated discussion concerning the use of Virginia brick instead of Hudson Valley brick. Many supervisors and speakers noted that Hudson Valley brick is at least as good as that manufactured elsewhere and in some instances could even be purchased at less cost. I introduced a resolution calling for a complete investigation of the matter, which would include testing Hudson Valley brick to ascertain if it was suitable. It is finally the intention of the entire Board of Supervisors that no brick should be placed until such testing and evaluation was completed. It certainly was the desire of this Board that no Virginia brick be ordered. Today I was horrified to learn that Virginia brick is now being delivered, all this in direct contrast to the will of the Board of Supervisors. At the special meeting of the board this week Friday, I will demand an investigation to determine:

"The practice of purchasing out-of-state brick," said Lucchi, "is an abuse of our local resident brickyard owners, who are taxpayers, our resident employees of the brickyards, who are taxpayers, of the county, who are forced to pay higher taxes because of the higher cost of out-of-state brick."

"We did not hire out-of-state architects to plan and build our Community College, and I feel that we should not buy out-of-state brick and we have locally produced brick available of equal quality and at a lower price."

When was the order for Virginia brick placed? Was it prior to or after the board meeting at which the testing was ordered? If the architect placed the order after the meeting, by whose authority did he deliberately circumvent and ignore the will of the Board of Supervisors?

Can steps now be taken to return the Virginia brick? If so, who will bear the cost of transporting same brick to its point of origin? Can the board now be held liable for the entire cost of the Virginia brick even if it is determined that the order was placed after the last board meeting?

If the order had been previously given, why was not a "hold" placed on same pending the testing ordered by the Board of Supervisors?

"These and many other questions will need answering, and I am determined to find out just what is going on of these things in flagrant violation of the will and direction of the Board of Supervisors."

John Lucchi, supervisor of the Fifth Ward today declared his complete opposition to the purchase of out-of-state brick to be used in the construction of the Ulster County Community College.

He observed that expert testimony shows Hudson Valley bricks are of equal quality to the out-of-state bricks, and are about $10 per thousand cheaper to the taxpayer.

Remind Farmers May Register for Cropland Program

Joseph J. Sauer, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reminded farmers today that sign up for the new Cropland Adjustment Program is open until May 13, even though sign up dates for the wheat and feed grain program signups have already closed.

The program is designed to fill a need not quite met by the annual acreage allotment and diversion programs in achieving and maintaining supply-demand balance for farm products. It is also expected to provide more hunting, fishing, and other opportunities for outdoor recreation.

CAP is especially attractive to farmers who want (1) to shift from production of surplus crops to other activities, (2) to retire gradually from farming while continuing to live on the farm, (3) to continue working off the farm, or (4) to take advantage of other local employment opportunities.

Farmers participating in CAP will receive adjustment payments related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land, and conservation cost-share payments on the land diverted.

The chairman reported that so far three farm operators in Ulster County have applied for agreements under CAP. These agreements will involve about 138 acres of cropland.

Farmers who are interested in diverting acreage under a long-term rather than an annual agreement are urged to file a CAP application before May 13, 1966, with the ASC Office, 54 John Street, Kingston. There is a limitation on the total acreage within a county or trade area which may be placed under such agreements.

Expert on China To Speak May 6 At UCCC Forum

An outstanding lecturer and authority on China will speak at the last of three lectures sponsored by Ulster County Community College, scheduled for Friday evening, May 6, in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

He is Dr. Chih Meng, who will discuss "China's Contributions to World Civilization." The lecture, which is the last of the series in the Forum of Chinese Civilization sponsored by the Social Science Division of UCCC, will begin at 8:30 p. m. and will be followed by a discussion period. It will be preceded by a reception at 7:30.

Professor Shu-Chin Sen has served as coordinator for the College's lecture series on China.

Family Record Dated
Dr. Chih Meng is one of a few who can speak authoritatively on traditional and contemporary China. His unbroken family record goes back to Mencius (B.C. 372-289)—a great thinker ranked as high as Confucius among world philosophers. He has been a number of times an on-the-spot eyewitness of history making events that have influenced the destiny of China.

During the last 30 years, Dr. Meng has traveled and lectured throughout the United States and China.

Dr. Meng graduated from Tsing Hua College, Peking, in 1919. He received his MA in Education from Columbia University in 1924. He then served as lecturer at the Institute of International Affairs, University of Virginia, from 1932 to 1934, and at the World Affairs Institute, California, in 1937. During the Second World War, Dr. Meng was the Executive Director of the Commission on Wartime Planning for Chinese Students in the United States.

At the first UNESCO conference in 1945, he served as an advisor to the Chinese delegation.

Warsaw Looking To Pope's Visit

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Some diplomats and churchmen in Warsaw think Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's Vatican audience has brightened prospects for a visit by Pope Paul VI to Communist-ruled Poland later this year.

After Gromyko's audience with the Pope Wednesday, the first ever given by a Roman Catholic pontiff to a minister of a Communist government, Vatican sources said they were certain the poor state of relations between the church and the Polish government was not discussed.

Could Ease Tension

However, observers here feel that if a new era of good feeling develops between the Vatican and the Kremlin, this almost certainly will ease the current high tension between the church and the Polish government, a situation which prevented Pope Paul from attending the celebration next Tuesday of the millennium of Christianity in Poland.

The Vatican last weekend made public a letter from the Pope to Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, the Catholic primate of Poland, expressing regret he could not visit Poland. But the Pope refrained from criticizing the Warsaw government's ban on visits by foreign church dignitaries for the celebration.

Speculation on August

Some diplomats and churchmen think the pontiff's desire to visit a Communist-ruled country could still bring him here during Poland's 1,000th year of Christianity. There is growing speculation of a trip in August, during the traditional annual pilgrimages to the Shrine of the Black Madonna in Czestochowa.

Observers recalled that the Vatican visit of Alexei Adzhubei, Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law, coincided with an easing of Catholic-Communist tension in Poland and Hungary. Khrushchev's ouster and the death of Pope John XXIII ushered in a period of uncertainty in church-state relations in Eastern Europe.

2 British Pirate Radios Threaten 24-Hour Service

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Pirate radio stations, operating off the British mainland, are to be joined by two new ones that threaten to operate around the clock.

The new buccaneers are Radio England and Britain Radio. Both are expected to broadcast from the same ship, the 480-ton Patricia anchored outside territorial waters off the Essex coast.

Cover Entire Nation

The new pirates are reported to have transmitters with a joint power of 110,000 watts and are expected to be the first to cover the whole of Britain.

Reports say the Patricia will anchor between the highly successful Radio London and Radio Caroline.

Radio England will feature the tops in pop music. Britain Radio will concentrate on softer music. Both are expected to use American disc jockeys.

Postmaster General Anthony Wedgwood Benn admits that at present he cannot move against the pirates. In a written parliamentary reply to a Labor member of the House of Commons, he said legislation giving him power to make the pirates walk the legal plank would be introduced by Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government as soon as the legislative timetable permits.

Has No Law

Britain presently has no law against pirate radio stations.

The postmaster general has said that they are operating on frequencies assigned to other stations by international agreements. Spokesmen for the pirates say this makes them unauthorized, not illegal.

Legalized radio in Britain is a monopoly of the state-supported British Broadcasting Corp. BBC does not broadcast commercials. The pirates do.

Hits GOP Medicare Revisions Spotlight Shifts From Divorce Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia balked today at accepting a Senate-approved compromise by Gov. Rockefeller in the Democratic-Republican dispute over Medicare.

The Legislature's top-ranking Democrat said he still was not satisfied with Rockefeller's plan for state participation in the federal program to provide medical services for the needy.

Offers Revision

The Republican governor came up with a revised proposal Tuesday. The Republican-ruled Senate swiftly transformed it into legislation, passed it and fired the bill off to the Assembly.

"I still might kill it," Travia told The Associated Press.

The Medicare dispute took over the spotlight on Capitol Hill after the Legislature voted overwhelmingly for the first reform of New York State's stringent divorce law in 179 years.

Both houses approved a bipartisan bill adding a variety of grounds to the ancient statute that has permitted divorce only on the ground of adultery. Rockefeller quickly signed it into law.

No Comment

The Republican governor, himself divorced and married to a divorced woman, offered no comment in endorsing the history-making legislation.

Effective Sept. 1, 1967, New York residents will be able to obtain a divorce on the grounds of abandonment, imprisonment of a spouse, homosexual conduct, cruel or inhuman treatment or voluntary separation for two years.

The measure was approved first by the Senate, 64-1, then by the Assembly, 152-7. Debate in both houses was tepid.

While the divorce bill occupied attention on the floor of the Senate and Assembly, negotiations were progressing behind the scenes to settle the month-old debate over Medicare.

Cites $5 Million Loss

Rockefeller fueled the effort by sending the Legislature a special message warning that the state might lose $5 million in federal funds for the month of January if legislation were not enacted by April 30 — Saturday.

He also dispatched to the lawmakers a series of amendments that Republicans heralded as a reasonable compromise offer. They amended their original bill in the Senate, approved it over Democratic objections and passed it along to the Democratic-controlled Assembly.

But Travia was not satisfied with the governor's offer.

He had drafted a rival plan, in which the State Health Department would be awarded the responsibility for supervising the medical care program. Rockefeller's first bill tabbed the State Social Welfare Department for the job.

Travia also insisted on more liberal eligibility requirements for medical assistance. Rockefeller set a lower cutoff figure on family income.

Offers Compromise

In an effort to compromise, Rockefeller said the Social Welfare Department should contract with the Health Department to administer medical details of the program. This would be mandatory under terms of the Republican bill.

The measure was passed, 36-29, with all Democrats in opposition, plus Republican Sen. William T. Smith of Big Flats, who opposes Medicare programs altogether.

Travia said that, if he and Rockefeller could not agree on the proper supervising department, then perhaps a "super agency" should be set up to oversee the program.

He told reporters also that he had advised Rockefeller he might be willing to accept the governor's bill on a one-year trial basis but that Rockefeller had spurned the idea.

In the Senate debate, Democratic Sen. Seymour Thaler of Queens declared that "Speaker Travia does not accept this bill and will not accept this bill."

But the Senate's Republican majority leader, Earl W. Brydges, said he still hoped the Assembly would go along.

He said that the measure could be amended further, after it was enacted into law, if the leadership in both houses agreed on additional changes.

Gets Hartwick Post

ONEONTA, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Howard B. Maxwell, an academic coordinator at the State University of New York at Albany, will become dean of student affairs July 1 at Hartwick College, Oneonta.

He was appointed to the newly created post by Dr. Frederick M. Binder, college president. Hartwick College is a private, liberal-arts school with 1,400 students.

Balloonist Down Again

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Tracy Barnes and his aspirations to cross the United States in a hot-air balloon have crashed again.

Barnes sustained back injuries when he was thrown from his gondola as it struck a rocky peak in the Laguna Mountains Wednesday. The $15,000 balloon and gondola crashed about five miles away.

BUCCANEER BEAUTY—It may not be a very accurate imitation of an oldtime pirate, but it certainly brightens up the modern celebration of Buccaneer Days at Corpus Christi, Tex., this year from April 28 to May 8.

Broadens Group Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to broaden the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission's power to fight racial discrimination in private employment.

Under the bill approved 299 to 94 and sent to the Senate, the year-old commission could issue orders requiring employers and labor unions to halt discriminatory practices. Now the commission is limited to persuasion.

The legislation also would bring thousands more companies under the commission's jurisdiction by covering all those with eight or more employees. This extension would not take effect until July 2, 1967.

Calls Attention To Kiwanis Dates

Kiwanis International, which is spearheading the 43rd annual observance of Canada-U.S. Goodwill Week, is also marking the 50th anniversary of its service in both countries.

Kiwanis was founded in Detroit in 1915 and the first club in Canada was founded in Hamilton, Ontario, in 1916. "Thus Kiwanis has grown up simultaneously in both these nations," said Raymond F. Myers, president of the Kingston Kiwanis Club.

Myers further pointed out that the local club has taken an active part in this goodwill observance with its annual meeting with the Kingston, Ontario, Canada club.

The recent issues of the Kiwanis International magazine carried an article concerning the goodwill venture which mentioned the exchange of meetings between the two Kingston clubs.

"Kiwanis has worked constantly to cement even further the good neighborliness which is the hallmark of Canadian-U.S. relations," said President Myers.

He also referred to a statement by President Lyndon B. Johnson relative to this Goodwill Week: "On that border we have no soldiers. We have no weapons. We have only long and enduring friends."

Report Peking's Third Blast May Be Prestige Try

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese government sources said today that Red China's third nuclear explosion, expected early next month, may be a preliminary hydrogen bomb test.

They said the year's interval since Peking's last atomic explosion would have given Chinese scientists enough time to put them on the verge of thermonuclear capability. They said the blast may come in two weeks, if weather permits, as part of a Chinese Communist effort to boost their international prestige during May Day celebrations in the Communist world.

Sources in Washington reported Wednesday night that the U.S. government has advised its allies to expect another atomic explosion on the Chinese mainland in the near future. There was no indication of how the U.S. government acquired its information, but the Central Intelligence Agency accurately predicted the first Chinese atomic explosion.

Five Men Beat, Kayo Policeman

GOWANDA, N.Y. (AP)—Five men beat and knocked a policeman unconscious today as he sought to question them after he spotted one of the group emerging from a shed at a gravel pit, deputy sheriffs said.

The five escaped in an automobile.

Patrolman Raymond Pilon, 30, of the Gowanda Police Department said that, after he saw the man leave the shed, he ordered him to stop. When the man did not, Pilon drew his gun and the man dropped to the ground.

It was then, Pilon said, he was attacked by the man's four companions and the man.

Pilon was admitted to Tri-County Hospital, where he was reported in fair condition.

Cattaraugus County Deputy sheriffs said that, when Pilon was found lying in mud, his badge, gun, gunbelt and ammunition were missing. The gun was found later in nearby bushes.

Woman Killed, Husband Hurt in Taconic Mishap

A 49-year-old woman motorist was killed and her husband seriously injured Wednesday afternoon when the car she was driving veered out of control on the Taconic Parkway in the Town of Claverack and overturned several times.

Dr. Thomas Caciopoli of Claverack said Mrs. Helen May Goss, of North Hoosick, died of internal hemorrhaging and a skull fracture. Her husband, Frederick, 57, was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, and treated for a broken foot and abrasions and lacerations of the head and body.

The hospital reported Goss' condition was fair.

Columbia County Coroner Newton Watts of Chatham gave a verdict of accidental death.

Police said the woman was ejected from the vehicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Goss were identified by police as the operators of Delaney's Hotel in North Hoosick.

Along Capitol Corridors

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The name of the newest game sweeping the politically divided Legislature is "Backstop."

Any number of lawmakers can play, and the ground rules are simple enough for even the most fumbling politician to grasp.

The payoff is in newspaper headlines — so far, on such issues as the sales tax, busing of school children and legislative ethics.

The Way It Goes

The game goes like this:

1. A legislative leader or rank-and-file member in one house comes upon a bill dripping with election-year credit for himself and like-minded colleagues but one, unfortunately, that he really does not wish to become law.

2. He checks the pulse of the other house and finds that it beats with outrage at the mere mention of the measure.

3. With great fanfare he pilots the bill through his house and dispatches it to the other chamber, where he knows it will be given a quick and unmerciful burial.

4. He claims credit for positive action and blames the other house for killing his brilliant brain-child.

Not Entirely Novel

The idea is not novel in parliamentary history, and something similar has been practiced in past sessions of the New York Legislature.

But conditions are especially provident for the game in this year's Legislature, which — for the first time since 1938 — finds one house controlled by Democrats and the other by Republicans.

"Backstop" was launched merrily several weeks ago with the sales-tax issue.

Republicans whipped up a $13-million plan to exempt a variety of household "necessities" from the 2 per cent state levy. Democrats were caught without a plan of their own.

So, in a display of one-upmanship, the Democrats patched together a $73.5-million package that included more exemptions plus a system for reimbursing merchants for collecting the tax.

Sent to Certain Death

Democrats did not want their bill to become law because they really thought the state could ill afford to lose that kind of money. But they felt obliged to outdo the Republicans as election-year friends of the suffering taxpayer.

So they rammed their bill through the Assembly and sent it to certain death at the hands of the Senate's Republican leadership. The GOP countered weakly by sending its bill to the Assembly.

Gov. Rockefeller finally stepped in and blew the whistle on both sides. He said he wouldn't sign any such bills.

Last week, Republicans showed they had mastered the game of "Backstop" by forcing through the Senate a bill that would bar most school districts from transferring pupils to achieve racial balance in the schools.

The busing issue is especially hot on Long Island, and a GOP senator from Nassau County convinced his colleagues that passage of the bill would rescue him from probable defeat. Many Republicans disliked the bill, but they knew it never would get out of the Assembly alive.

Sure enough, the bill was channelled into an Assembly committee pigeonhole — there to stay.

Poison to Most Solons

Now the game is being played with a Democratic-sponsored bill to tighten the code of ethics governing private business pursuits of state lawmakers. The bill is poison to most legislators.

But they could be made to look bad, voting against ethics. At the same time, there might be political profit in the bill.

So the Assembly leadership decided to turn it loose, and the Senate leadership obliged by dusting out a pigeonhole of its own.

In a novel twist, when the bill came before the Assembly, opponents succeeded in amending it — to make it even stricter. They were taking no chances that the Senate might double-cross them and pass the measure.

As a result, the vote had to be put off until next Monday. Senate leaders reacted with amusement. Said one Senate stalwart:

"We ought to let the word out that we'll buy it — then see what the Assembly does."

Port Ewen Leader To Take Part in Mohonk Seminar

Zale Liese of Port Ewen, president of the Port Ewen Businessmen's Association, past president of the Port Ewen Water Board and School Board, is one of 40 community leaders from New York and New Jersey who have been chosen to participate in a three-day seminar on the Hudson River basin to be held May 11, May 13 at Lake Mohonk Mountain House, Mohonk Lake, New York.

The conference, titled "Challenge of the Hudson", is sponsored and financed by the League of Women Voters Education Fund under a demonstration grant awarded by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The planning committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward M. Davis of Chappaqua, includes 24 prominent people from education, business, civic, conservation and planning fields.

The purpose of the conference is to create awareness and citizen involvement in the problems of land and water use in the Hudson River Valley, which includes Lake Mohonk. The program will include discussion of background and resource materials.

Prominent speakers will include Professor John E. Bebout, director of the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers University, Representative Richard L. Ottinger, U. S. Congressman from Westchester County, and Henry Diamond, assistant to Laurence S. Rockefeller, chairman of the Hudson River Valley Commission.

Following the seminar, the participants will be available to join with other local citizens who are interested in helping to solve the vital problems of land and water management in this area.

Chinese Concern About Viet Nam Seems Lukewarm

EDITOR'S NOTE — This article on Viet Nam and China was brought out of the Communist mainland by a British author who, unlike American reporters, had a chance to visit there. The Associated Press asked him to write of what he found.

By FRANK TUOHY

HANGCHOW, China, (AP) — Here in China, people are surprisingly lukewarm about the war in Viet Nam. I assume this is the official point of view, because official views are all the visiting foreigner gets. Yet the Chinese certainly want foreigners to think they are ready for war. Take, for example, the curious goings-on outside my Nanking hotel. Early on a Sunday morning — and Sunday is a rest day in China as in other countries — gangs of blue-clad girls were dragging in truckloads of earth from outside, and others were stamping it down on to a raised mound beyond some magnolia trees. I asked what all the girls were doing.

Lots of Shelters

I have seen some more air-raid shelters in China, but not many. The Nanking hotel one perplexes me still. Why build a shelter for the foreign guests of a tourist hotel? Why make such a show of it? Are foreigners supposed to believe that the Chinese expect war? And further, do the Chinese really fear war, or is the Central Committee merely using the threat to boost morale after recent reverses on the economic and diplomatic fronts?

The position with regard to the Vietnamese conflict is extraordinarily complex.

Posters and cartoons show cowardly GIs surrendering to Vietnamese soldiers. There is a Vietnamese martyr saint, Yuan Wen-tse, who was executed in October 1964 for allegedly attempting to blow up Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at Saigon. I saw an interesting play about him on my last night in Peking.

At all films, concerts and operas I went to, the audience applauded nationalist sentiments, but this time there was no clapping until the final curtain.

No Pictures of Ho Chi Minh Furthermore, nowhere in China have I seen a picture of Ho Chi Minh, and everyone is extremely cautious on the question of support.

A very intelligent and neutral Vietnamese journalist I know was told in one factory: "Viet Nam is an incentive for us to increase our production."

She asked: "Do you mean to work hard in order to send your goods to North Viet Nam?"

"No, to help us encourage our workers to increase their productivity."

Almost the same words were used to me in a commune outside Canton. The group-mind of China was sure of this point.

Compare Cong to Chinese Yet I feel that the Chinese believe that the Viet Cong is composed of South Vietnamese who are heroically liberating their country. The Chinese compare the situation to their own in 1945-49. Then they had finished a war with Japan, as the Vietnamese later ousted the French.

Then, there remained Chiang Kai-shek and his followers, in Communist eyes corrupt and nepotistic, just like Ngo Dinh Diem and Nguyen Cao Ky. Then, there were Americans suing for peace while supporting the Kuomintang government with arms and supplies. Then, too, there was a liberation front, headed by Mao Tze-tung.

Dean Rusk has said that China is seeking to establish a hegemony in Asia under the pretext of supporting wars of liberation. The Chinese answer, which is acceptable when you have seen the country itself, is that they have much too much to do within their own frontiers to harbor such ambitions. The cautious sympathy they profess for the Vietnamese would seem to support this.

What concerns China are American intentions. Shelters may be few — the only one I saw in Peking was on the university campus — but there is plenty of evidence of a militaristic mood.

Soldiers Everywhere In some ways the face of China already is the face of a country at war. Trains and public places are crowded with soldiers. Large groups of these were being harangued in the museum of the Chinese revolution in Peking. In the courtyard of the military museum, children lined up on a freezing day to inspect the reassembled wreckage of a U2 and two pilotless spy planes.

China wants to consider at her martial activities as the result of America's evil intentions. The bringing down of yet another U.S. pilotless spy plane, two days after my arrival, was treated as part of a regular series of booster-shots for public morale.

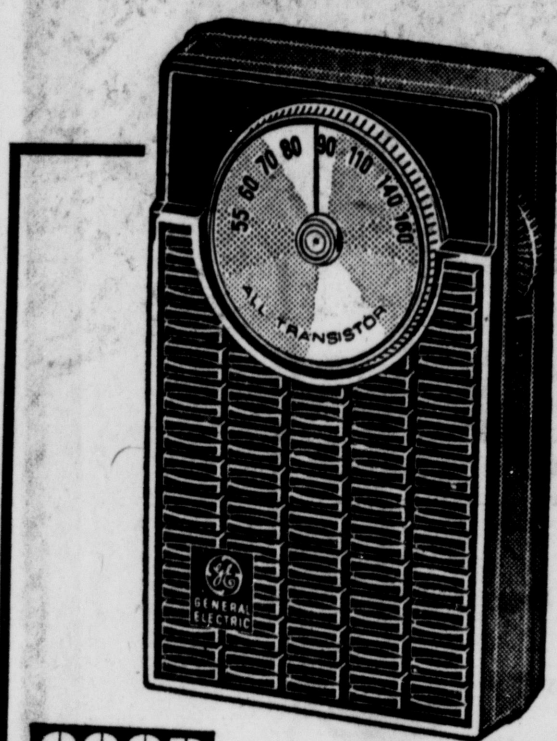

How genuine is all this propaganda? Is it for war or just for increased productivity?

Next: Chinese and foreigners.

Aver Impounding Cars Idea Is Good, But Not Practical

By HAL COOPER

NEW YORK (AP) — When traffic laws are flouted, should the car be jailed instead of the driver?

Sounds like a great idea, road safety experts agreed in a survey today, but there's a snag: It wouldn't work.

No Storage Space

For one thing, the experts pointed out, there isn't enough municipal storage space to accommodate even a fraction of

Computer Talks Back

BOSTON (AP) — Now the computers are talking back.

Radio Corporation of America announced at a spring joint computer conference Wednesday it has developed a computer device which provides spoken replies to questions fed into it by telephone. The answers are prerecorded on a magnetic drum.

the automobiles which would wind up in custody.

For another, hordes of workers depend on their cars for transportation and a serious breakdown of commerce and industry would threaten immediately.

The suggestion that automobiles involved in traffic violations be removed from circulation was set forth by William Colson, past president of the Trial Lawyers Association in a speech in Miami Tuesday.

Colson said the offending car owner should be charged storage costs until a court decided to give him back his set of wheels.

Find Few Takers

His proposal found few takers. "It would be an administrative monstrosity," protested Traffic Inspector Joseph Halperin of the Philadelphia police department.

"In 1965 there were 165,000 hazardous traffic violations in Philadelphia alone. What about out-of-town violators? Would you ship the drivers back to California, or wherever?"

"It would constitute a possibly unequal punishment — some people need their cars to make a living," said Division Traffic Inspector N.L. Rector of Los Angeles.

"Suppose there is one car in the family and a son is driving and commits a violation," said Maj. George W. Pinckerton, head of the Pennsylvania State Police Department Traffic Bureau. "If you impound the car you penalize the mother and father."

Spokesmen Scornful

A spokesman for automobile drivers was scornful. Said Samuel T. Milliken, manager of the Keystone-Philadelphia Automobile Club: "Put the car in jail? Sure, why not? Just convert all parking garages and lots into jailhouses. Swear in garage attendants as policemen. What matter if it slows the wheels of industry to a grinding halt?"

The only outright booster for Colson's idea was Richard McLaughlin, Massachusetts registrar of motor vehicles. He has already put a bill into the state legislative mill which would impound for 60 days the cars of drivers twice convicted of driving with invalid licenses.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — James Brown of Tampa was cleared of a traffic charge after showing color movies in city court of a string of cars — and a motorcycle cop — making the same illegal left turn.

"In this case I'll temper justice with mercy," Judge Tom Meyers said Wednesday. "Not guilty."

Brown is the organist at Tampa's Al Lopez Field and said he had seen the same infraction committed hundreds of times following home games of the spring-training Cincinnati Reds.

Study Atomic Blast

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An underground atomic blast that experts estimate would boost an oil company's gas production by as much as four trillion cubic feet is being studied.

R. McLean Stewart, chairman and chief executive officer of Austral Oil Co., an independent producing company based at Houston, said the firm has spent a substantial sum on drawing up a proposal concerning such an experiment for possible submission to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Faces New Trial

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Another trial will be held for a 28-year-old man acquitted in January of participating in an alleged Chicago-to-Buffalo stolen automobile ring.

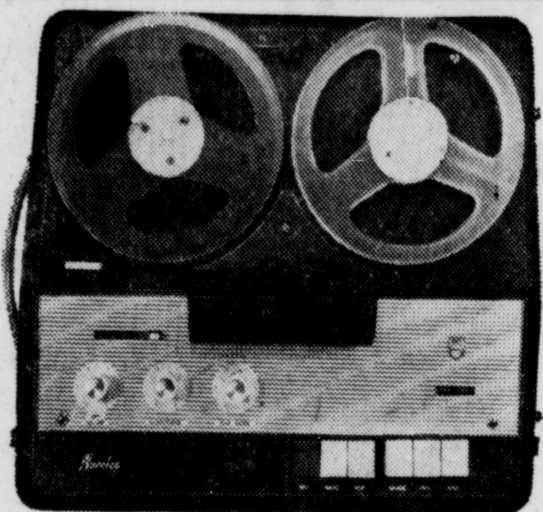

U.S. Atty. John T. Curtin said Wednesday John Pellegrini of Buffalo will be tried on a charge of receiving and concealing a stolen sports car which was taken in Chicago and brought here. No trial date has been set.

(10) Socialism and Silk

by Don Oakley and John LaneWang Mang, Champion of the DowntroddenRome at its Height Drapes Itself in Chinese SilkCorruption, Intrigue, Assassination
Doom the House of Han

The Seres (Chinese) send to Rome the fleecy product of their forests... all that a Roman lady may exhibit her charms in transparent gauze.

—Pliny the Elder

In 8 A.D., a popular Confucian scholar, Wang Mang, regent to the 4-year-old emperor, seized the throne of China, proclaimed a new dynasty and launched a sweeping program of reforms.

He nationalized the land and ordered that the great estates be broken up and given to those who tilled them. He freed thousands of slaves, advanced low-interest loans to farmers and small businessmen and nationalized the chief industries.

But Wang Mang had attempted too much too quickly and had made too many powerful enemies, even—because of government bungling—among those he had tried to help. After 15 years, the nation rebelled, Wang Mang was killed and the Han dynasty reinstated. The civilized world at this time was divided between two great empires in their heydays—China in the East and Rome in the West. Though they had no diplomatic contact, the Silk Road across Asia brought vast quantities of that coveted fabric to Rome.

While the historian Pliny may have been mistaken about how the "Seres"—the Silk People—made silk and was somewhat of an old fogey about feminine fashions, he was right when he pointed with alarm to the huge sums that "luxury and the female sex cost us." Many millions in Roman gold drained into the pockets of middlemen along the Silk Road over the decades. Thus little silkworms may actually have contributed to the decline and fall of the mighty Roman Empire.

Before that, however, decay again infected the house of Han. A bloody revolt by a religious sect called the Yellow Turbans undermined the central authority of the government. Dowager empresses and palace eunuchs became the real powers behind the throne, which more often than not was occupied by a child—until he became old enough to be assassinated.

The corruption and cruelty of the eunuchs resulted in a general massacre of "the beardless ones" by the military in 189 A.D. and signalled the start of a period of civil war.

The Han dynasty finally ground to an end in 220 A.D. Yet so glorious had it been that Chinese long afterwards were to call themselves Sons of Han. If for only one thing alone—its gift of paper to the world—it would deserve to be remembered.

Will Allow Women To Visit Men's Dorms

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Union College will permit women to visit in men's dormitories and fraternities, under new social policies at the 171-year-old institution.

The ruling earlier this week came in the wake of months of urging by the student body. A Student Council plea to the administration last March called for the new rules to create a "psychologically healthier environment."

The old regulations, to be replaced in three weeks, barred women guests from dormitory and fraternity rooms at all times and allowed them in lounges and public rooms only during specific hours.

Students said the rules con-

Judge Faces Hearing

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Judge Robert V. O'Hara of Syracuse City Court faces a hearing Tuesday before two judges inquiring into his conduct.

Gifford P. Montague, director of administration of the Fourth Judicial District, said Wednesday the hearing would investigate matters concerning O'Hara's "conduct as a judge."

The hearing was set for Montague's office in the State Office Building before Justices Frank DeVecchio and Earle C. Barton of the Appellate Division, Fourth Department, State Supreme Court.

sistently had been broken in recent years.

Resnick Notes Attractions in Nation's Capital

In his weekly column, deviating from the usual New Laws Explained format, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick calls attention to the many attractions in Washington, D.C.

His column follows:

Visitors come to Washington all year long. But this is the time of year when they begin to come in throngs. And no wonder. Washington is beautiful at any time of the year, but in the Spring it is absolutely irresistible. Of course, every American feels a strong patriotic and emotional attachment to the nation's Capital. And when you say Washington to most people they immediately think of the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial, the Capitol, the other national shrines, and public buildings, and the foreign embassies.

But what most people don't realize until they get here is that all of these stone and marble structures have been placed in a most beautiful, jewel-like setting. Tree lined avenues, fountains, gardens, and beautiful views abound everywhere in this great city.

RESNICK NOTES—(2) ... No visitor ever leaves Washington without realizing that he has seen much more than he ever expected to. History, art, excitement, and a hundred other attractions vie for your attention wherever you may be. I am still excited and filled with pride at the sight of this great city, and I know you will be too. Every American should visit Washington at least once in his life time.

Fortunately, living here in this county, you are no further away than a six or seven hour drive to Washington. And I sincerely hope you will take my suggestion and bring your family down at the earliest opportunity, even if it's for just a weekend.

Best of Weather Now
Right now, we are enjoying the best weather of the year. June will begin to get a little warm, and July and August will be hot and humid. However, that should not stop you from making the trip if that is the only time you can get away.

If you are planning a trip, there's one thing you should do first. My helpful staff has prepared a custom-designed "visitor's kit", just chock full of maps, folders, lists of events, and other information that will give you a complete run down on the major attractions of the area. It will help you plan the most efficient use of your time. If you're coming down on a weekday, be sure to stop in to my office and pick up gallery passes to see the House of Representatives in session. We will probably also have some additional literature for you to take—and before you leave—be sure to sign our guest book.

Some people forget that Washington is on a river. This means that you can take delightful boat trips up and down the Potomac to Mount Vernon and other places. They even have moonlight cruises with free dancing on board.

Unquestionably, the most popular tourist attractions in the Washington area are the Lincoln Memorial, the Jefferson Memorial, Washington Monument, Arlington National Cemetery, the Capitol, the FBI building, the National Gallery of Art, the Smithsonian Institution, and the White House.

Don't Miss Items

In addition to these famous sights, I would like to add a few favorites of my own, in addition to the monuments and other functions that should not be missed: Georgetown—the old restored section of Washington, rich in colonial charm. Many top government leaders live here, and the area is full of historical places, antique shops, and other spots of interest.

Arlington National Cemetery—a cherished spot which is the site of President Kennedy's grave, Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the restored revolutionary Custis-Less Mansion.

Carter Barron Amphitheater—summer evening programs of Broadway musicals, symphony, folk music and other programs.

B'nai B'rith Museum—many exhibits of Jewish interest.

Aquarium—located (of all places) in the basement of the Department of Commerce building. It's really worth seeing and open every day including Sundays.

Concerts—both indoor and outdoor. See them at the National Gallery of Art, the Library of Congress, the Corcoran Gallery, the Pan American Union, and Watergate. They are always listed in the daily newspaper.

Washington Cathedral—the largest and most magnificent example of Gothic cathedrals in the United States. There are daily conducted tours.

Lincoln Museum (Ford's Theater)—restoration of the theater in which Lincoln was shot.

Library of Congress—located directly in front of the Capitol, this is unquestionably one of the most beautiful buildings in Washington. You can spend hours here looking at the exhibits, mosaics, architecture and the art painted on the walls and ceilings.

Every tour of Washington should also include at least two or three of the following attractions: Dunbarton Oaks Gardens, Folger Shakespeare Library, Franciscan Monastery, Marine Corps Memorial (Iwo Jima Statue), Army Medical Museum, Mt. Vernon, National Archives, National Geographic Society, National Historical Wax Museum, Supreme Court Building, Naval Museum, Naval Observatory and Zoological Park.

Because Washington is a tourist's Mecca, most attractions are open every day, including weekends. Our "visitor's kit" will not only give you a much more complete list of attractions, but will also show the hours when they are open.

So—as I was saying—what are you waiting for? Come on down as soon as you can. And be sure to stop in to the office for that special Hudson Valley greeting.

The message is expected to be delivered to Capitol Hill later in the day.

Kheel Discloses Little Progress In Guild Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Mediator Theodore W. Kheel today reported "a little progress, but not nearly enough" at a meeting of representatives of the printers union and the World Journal Tribune Inc. which is struck by the Newspaper Guild of New York.

Matt Meyer, president of the corporation, said he did not think any progress was made. "Neither side has made any definite offer," he said. "We are still too far apart."

Publisher representatives met today with officers of the AFL-CIO Guild, composed largely of editorial and business office workers.

The Guild struck the newly formed corporation Sunday before it could publish its first newspapers after a merger of three papers. The Guild is demanding that seniority be used as the basis for eliminating the jobs of about half of its 1,800 members who had been employed by the three newspapers.

The 10 unions in the newspaper industry here are holding contract negotiations with the World Journal Tribune Inc.

The key issue between the corporation and Local 6 of the AFL-CIO International Typographical Union is the amount of severance pay to be given the 400 printers losing their jobs in the merger. The three papers had 900 printers.

The department said Wednesday the grants, on a matching fund basis, represent allocations for late applicants for funds previously allocated but then not accepted by the original applicants. None exceed $25,000.

Reveal Yanks Capture Of Cong Supply Center

Editor's Note: Associated Press photographer Horst Faas accompanied a large force of U.S. 1st Infantry Division troops this week on a drive toward the Cambodian border. They found and destroyed a big Viet Cong supply center. Here is his report.

By HORST FAAS
Associated Press Photographer

RACH BENG GO RIVER, South Viet Nam (AP) — American troops today were destroying hundreds of tons of Viet Cong supplies found in a complex of warehouses at the heart of a vast network of jungle supply lines.

Hacking into jungles and digging through tunnels along the Cambodian border just 70 miles from Saigon, troops of the 1st Infantry Division discovered at least 30 large caches of rice, salt, cooking oil and clothing.

Vital Stop

The supply camp was a vital stop on what is commonly called the Ho Chi Minh Trail. But here the trail is an international waterway — the Rach Beng Go River.

The river winds 20 miles through C Zone, a dense jungle dominated for decades by the Viet Cong, and forms the border between Cambodia and South Viet Nam.

It connects with several waterways that lead north and west into Cambodia and south into Viet Nam's Mekong Delta. Last Sunday the entire field force of the 1st Division, joined by a Vietnamese division, launched a giant operation named Birmingham to destroy Viet Cong supply and communication lines in the area.

Moved in by Air

A day-long airlift brought thousands of combat troops to a forward base near Tay Ninh. A convoy 60 miles long poured in heavy equipment from the 1st Division base camp 10 miles north of Saigon. Nearly 100 helicopters landed several battalions in jungle clearings parallel to the border.

For three days the infantrymen battled the thick jungle but found nothing. Solitary snipers took a daily toll. Scores of men collapsed in broiling heat that soared to 107 degrees every afternoon.

Late Tuesday a platoon came to a clearing where the trees had been chopped down. Boards made from the timber were in stacks.

Small patrols fanned out, and each found trails that converged at a point alongside the Rach Beng Go River.

Find Rice Cache

Suddenly the men came on a large tin-roofed storage hut. It held about 900 sacks of commercially bagged, polished rice. Each sack weighed 220 pounds.

Many of them were stenciled with the names of shipping firms in Formosa, Penang, Malaysia and Singapore. Others were U.S. aid sacks. At one point a day, this cache alone would feed 2,000 enemy troops for 100 days.

American patrols quickly moved down the river banks. One squad leader reported another 100 tons of rice loose in bins. Another found 50 tons of rock salt. Another found bundles of plastic material for ponchos, stacked 10 feet high and filling a warehouse the size of a large truck.

Sheets of tin were stacked six feet high. There were hundreds of gallons of cooking oil. A nearby company found 800 black cotton shirts and trousers.

Not a shot was fired. There was no sign of life.

Find Love Letters

A woman's cloth bag was discovered along a jungle trail. Together with love letters were bank notes from North Viet Nam, South Viet Nam and Cambodia. An intelligence officer picked out a piece of paper. It said: "Received for rice — 224,000 piasters," equivalent on the official South Vietnamese exchange to a little more than $3,000. The receipt apparently was for a truckload of rice.

Alpha Company had found the heart of a distribution center. Goods — apparently purchased in large markets, possibly in Cambodia — moved along the river in barges.

Traveling along the river was safe for the Viet Cong and its commercial friends. American and Vietnamese forces are not allowed to fire on or beyond the river unless they are fired on first.

Once inside South Viet Nam, the goods reached Viet Cong fighting units over hidden trails. It was carried on human backs, oxcarts and sometimes trucks. Trails fanning out from the distribution center showed footprints, hoofmarks and the cart-wheel ruts.

Documents Revealing

Captured documents revealed that the massive operation was administered by two Viet Cong logistic companies.

As the troops searched, American jets and helicopters strafed and bombed the jungle around them. As the planes passed over Cambodian territory, shots were fired at them. The bullets did no damage and the aircraft did not fire back.

Reports continued to come in of more finds. Alpha Company alone accounted for more than 350 tons of goods.

Division command decided it was too big a job to carry the goods out and it was too dangerous to have million-dollar cargo helicopters brought in so close to the border, across which enemy machine gunners could lie in wait. The goods had to be destroyed.

Rhodesia Holds Off On Relations Break

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—The Rhodesian government has ordered held in abeyance a recent order breaking off relations with Britain, the government — financed Rhodesian Broadcasting Corporation said in a broadcast today.

John Hennings, head of the British mission here, said, however, this did not mean a resumption of normal diplomatic relations.

The broadcast quoted a government spokesman as saying the action was being taken "in view of the proposed informal talks" announced Wednesday in the British House of Commons by Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The talks are designed to end the dispute that arose Nov. 11, the spokesman said, when Rhodesia declared its independence of Britain rather than give in to British demands that the black majority be eventually given the vote.

Urges Olive Branch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says he hopes the United States will soon "moderate our hostility and offer to China the hand of friendship."

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, added that the American attitude "is prolonging the extremist phase of the Chinese revolution."

Any offer is almost certain to be rejected, Fulbright said in a lecture to the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies, but "honest and repeated offers of friendship may weaken the Chinese image of a hostile America" and lead to moderation of the Communist giant.

There are more than 500,000 professional nurses at work in the United States, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Granata-Kornbrek Wedding Is Announced

MRS. THOR C. KORNBREK (Lakeside photo)

Miss Suzanne Teresa Granata, daughter of George L. Granata of Poughkeepsie, and niece of Mrs. Angelina Paterson, exchanged marriage vows with Thor C. Kornbrek of Hopewell Junction in St. Mary's Church, Poughkeepsie. The announcement of the wedding which took place Sunday, April 10 at 3 p. m. was released to The Freeman this week. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Vincent Meschane.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white imported silk and chantilly lace. A matching lace pillow held her triple tiered veil of silk illusion and she carried a nosegay of white roses and stephanotis on a prayer book.

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ferraro of Kingston are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, born this morning at the Benedictine Hospital. Mrs. Ferraro, the former Pamela Hotaling, is the daughter of Mrs. George Chilson of Kingston. Mr. Ferraro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferraro of Kingston, is third baseman for Toledo of the International League.

The bride's sister, Nancy E. Granata of Poughkeepsie, was maid of honor in a floor length gown of blue silk taffeta and lace in sheath style. A matching open pillbox held a short veil and she carried a nosegay of white roses with blue streamers.

Serving as attendants to the bride were Mrs. Genevieve Granata, Rhinebeck, cousin of the bride; Miss Gail Brundage, Ossining; Miss Pat Bush, Talmage Street, Poughkeepsie; and Mrs. Pat Demskie of Beacon. Their gowns were identical to that worn by the honor attendant.

Clifford Kornbrek of Wappingers Falls was best man for his brother. Ushers were Robert Smith, cousin of the bride; Rhinehart Kornbrek Jr., brother of the bridegroom; Charles Rumpf, cousin of the bridegroom; and Ralph Rubino.

A reception for 130 guests was given at The Capri in Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from Roosevelt High School. Her husband, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhinehart Kornbrek Sr., of Hopewell Junction, is an alumnus of Wappingers Falls High School and is employed as an electrician.

Mr. and Mrs. Kornbrek will make their home in Poughkeepsie.

Doing The Right Thing

FOR BETTER MOTORING MANNERS, CHECK YOUR ANSWERS TO QUIZ

Here are the answers to yesterday's questions on motoring manners. Although some of the wrong answers may seem plausible, there is only one really right answer to each question. Each of the others contains something to make it either unsafe or just plain rude.

1. When you are forced to park on the left side of a busy one-way street, there is only one safe, correct way for you and your passengers to return to your car. Even though it's awkward, you must let your date get in from the sidewalk side, while you hold the door for her. To let her go into the traffic on the right side, alone, is inexcusable. For you to go with her to open the right-hand door would still be dangerous on a busy street, as well as inconsiderate of passing drivers who would have to either swerve out or stop and wait.

2. Impatience is the cause of almost all rudeness at intersections which have traffic lights. Honking your horn to start (and startle) the car in front of you, or racing to beat the other lane when you see by the orange light that the signal is about to change, are prime examples. On the other hand, waiting for all pedestrians to reach the sidewalk, whether they are in front of your car or not, is a sure sign of a polite and careful driver, who controls his impatience and cognizant of the possible dangers of sudden starts to those in the crosswalk.

3. When you see a car broken down beside a throughway, the best thing is to report it to the nearest policeman, road crew, or at a toll station. All police cars and most highway repair trucks have communication with the nearest authorized garages and will send help immediately. Be sure to have the location of the car exact, as well as a brief description. Stopping to help by yourself is ineffective as you probably won't have the necessary equipment and it can be dangerous as well. To report the situation is most thoughtful as it can be many long hours before anyone in authority happens by.

4. Passengers taking a trip in a car belonging to the driver should share, to the full, all expenses. After all, the depreciation costs come out of the driver's pocket. The passengers should look out for his comfort by sitting still and not jostling him when the car is moving. They should insist on sharing the expenses of gas and oil and they should take turns paying the tolls, or have one keep an account and divide the amount at the end of the trip. Someone in the front seat should have the change ready well in advance of each toll and inform the driver whether he will have exact change or not.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the booklet entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elizabeth L. Post in care of The Freeman.

Campaign Launched To Have Men Wear PJ's, Night Clothes

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Hundreds of haberdashery buyers are gathered here to tackle—among other things—menswear's biggest challenge—getting men to wear night clothes to bed.

"The majority sleep in their underwear, nothing at all," Larry Baxter, president of Fleetway, lamented Wednesday. His pajama firm makes a loin cloth type kiltie as a compromise.

Wars are largely to blame, according to Derek Rose, a Londoner with Bonsoir now selling pajamas styled by the queen's designer Hardie Amies.

Sometimes it takes years, a nagging wife and kiddies toddling about the house before an ex-serviceman breaks his wartime habit of sleeping in his shorts or less, Rose said. But England's drafty houses have improved the situation, he added.

Air conditioning here, as well as more leisure hours for lolling around the house gradually is increasing the demand for night apparel.

However, the makers who are exhibiting at the men's Sportswear Trade Show here, are counting on fashion appeal and sex appeal to clad more bed-bound lads.

The very same influences in women's fashions—mod and cowboy styles are the big deals in the menswear market here.

Men's trends include narrow trousers, hip-hugger slacks; garrison belts; bright, striped or flowered shirts with wide white collars; broad shoulders; narrow waists; wide lapels; four-inch wide paisley ties; blanket plaid fabrics; slick vinyl garments, and fake furs.

Moseley, dean of faculty, was listed as moderator of the demonstration panel, to include three faculty members in the fine and performing arts: Prof. Peter Baruzzi in art, Prof. Margaret Ellen Clifford in drama and Prof. Edward G. Hausman in music.

Mrs. Lyons was a member of the Skidmore Class of 1957.

Amphitheater Will Not Open This Year

Cancellation of plans to build a 3,000-seat amphitheatre near Catskill to become the home this summer of a musical pageant, based on the Rip Van Winkle legend, was announced today.

Kermit Goell, producer, in New York City reportedly said that three months were not enough time to raise the money needed and that plans are underway to raise sufficient money to finance the project so that the amphitheatre can be opened in the summer of 1967.

An option on the land near the Catskill Game Farm, the site of the proposed project, is being retained according to Goell.

Two weeks ago the producer reported that $30,000 to $40,000 would be required to complete

Robert Merrill, Robert DeCormier Singers And Famous Piano Duo Coming to Kingston

Final plans were made for the annual membership drive of the Community Concert Association at a captains' meeting held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. William Rylance, Kingston.

Kits containing materials for the workers throughout the area were distributed and all members of the association will be contacted as well as new residents in the Hudson Valley.

The membership campaign is scheduled to begin May 9 with a dinner for all workers at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Membership Week is May 9-14. All persons interested in obtaining memberships must do so at that time.

The series for the 1966-67 season will include Robert Merrill, Whitmore and Lowe as well as the Robert DeCormier Singers.

Mrs. Ralph Harper, co-chairman of the membership drive this year told those attending the meeting that she had recently heard a concert by the DeCormier Singers and that she was most impressed with their program. She stated the group presented a varied program of singing and dancing, and that the conductor, Robert DeCormier, not only displayed his musical talent, but also proved he is a true theatrical personality.

Mr. DeCormier, composer, conductor and arranger, is a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music. As a composer, he is represented by the Broadway production "The Wall" as well as "The World of Sholem Aleichem." Broadway theater audiences remember his excellent choral arrangements in the production of "The Happiest Girl in the World" and the hit musical "Milk and Honey." He also wrote the score for the musical "10 in the Shade." He gained nationwide fame through his work as conductor and arranger for Harry Belafonte, both for his appearances and his recordings. When the Belafonte group toured across the country, their tours were sold out and the choral arrangements used by Mr. Belafonte caused record sales to soar.

The formation of the DeCormier Singers is a natural outgrowth of his background with Mr. Belafonte.

Mr. DeCormier has moulded an exciting and memorable evening of song by surrounding himself with three of the most creative personalities of the theatrical world. He has chosen Jack Landau, Ralph Alsang and Norman Walker, each considered the best in his own profession, to produce an evening of entertainment equal to any Broadway show.

Mr. Landau, Producer-Director of the CBS TV entertainment special Stage 2, began his career as a designer of scenery and costumes. He was a member of the staff of the Old Vic Theater School in England. He has been associated with the American Shakespeare Theater in Stratford, Connecticut. His Shakespeare productions include "A Midsummer Night's Dream" which ran for three seasons and toured with Bert Lahr from coast to coast. He directed Katherine Hepburn in all of her Stratford appearances, including the national tour of "Much Ado About Nothing." Mr. Landau's last production for the American Shakespeare Theater was a command performance for the late President Kennedy, the first professional performance of Shakespeare at Presidential invitation.

Ralph Alsang, is Broadway's foremost authority on the use of lighting to enhance on-stage dramatics. He has been responsible for the lighting of such Broadway shows as "The Advocate," "King Lear," "Tunnel of Love" and "Sunrise at Campobello."

Norman Walker is one of the outstanding dancer-choreographers of our time. He has danced and choreographed such TV shows as "The Bell Telephone Hour" and CBS's "Repertoire Workshop." His work, with its freshness and inventiveness so impressed Ted Shawn, that Mr. Walker was invited to take part in the Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Lee, Mass.

Scouts Grow Up

LONDON (AP) — The Boy Scouts of Britain are growing up. Instead of the traditional knee-length khaki shorts, some troops in the 11 to 15 age group are wearing long trousers. Senior scouts have been wearing them since 1961.

The talents of these men are joined with those of the choral group and the instrumentalists to bring the concert-goer something new and exciting in entertainment.

The DeCormier Singers made their debut in 1962 in New York City. This was followed by a 50-city tour in the United States and Canada. As a result of the success of this initial tour, the group made a coast-to-coast tour of the United States and Canada last season, and was again booked for a "sold out" tour.

Audie Gaylord Will Call for Lefooters; Dance Is Friday

Audie Gaylord of Pittsfield, Mass., will appear at the Hurley Reformed Church Hall this Friday evening as guest caller for the Lefooters Square Dance Club. The popular New England caller and his wife Marlene mark their second engagement with the local club within six months, a fact which indicates their popularity.

A typical week of Western Style Square Dancing for Audie and Marlene includes at least three engagements, and at least one of these engagements will entail considerable traveling. There may be as many as 20 dances in a month for a busy caller, including beginning and workshop dance groups. Audie calls regularly for The Merry-Elights of Dalton, Mass., and The Circle-Eighters of Lanesboro, Mass., and is currently chairman of The Berkshire Area Western Style Square Dance Callers Association.

The square dance will begin at 8:30 p. m., and all club level dancers are cordially invited to attend.

Kingston Hadassah Raises Funds Here For Scholarships

Members and guests of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah met for a regular monthly meeting Monday, April 25. Mrs. Nathaniel B. Gross, president of the local chapter, presided. Included among the reports was the most successful completion of the recent "New and Nearly New Shop." Mrs. Sidney Halpern, co-chairman of the event, gave special thanks for the success of the shop to Mrs. Paul Adin. The funds raised will be used to grant two scholarships to Hadassah's vocational education schools for boys and girls and to buy equipment for these schools.

Miss Sadie Lutzin reported on the special benefit project for the Hadassah Medical Organization. The project is progressing satisfactorily but all members are requested to turn in their books as soon as possible.

Eye Bank Day, Hadassah's annual effort to help prevent trachoma, will be held on May 18 according to Mrs. Sidney Spiegel and Mrs. Scher, co-chairmen.

It was reported that the page for the benefit of the Hadassah Medical Organization has been successfully completed. Mrs. Carl Lipton, chairman of the ad page thanked all who worked on this endeavor and emphasized that an excellent job had been done. All workers are reminded that accounts for the ads must be paid by June 1 if Donor Credit is to be received.

Mrs. Sam Barnowitz, greeting card chairman, reminded members that Hadassah cards are available and that proceeds from the sale of these cards are used to support the Medical Center.

The culminating activity this year for those earning their donors will be a day of golf, swimming, relaxation, as well as a cocktail party, dinner, entertainment and dancing at the Fallsview Hotel on June 5, Donor Day.

Reservations for this gala event may be made with Mrs. George Starkman or Mrs. Robert Davis. Following the business meeting, Mrs. Arthur Landman, program coordinator, announced that the program for the meeting was prepared by Mrs. Julian Lohr and Mrs. Morton Cohen. Mrs. Cohen presented the Match Game, an audience participation game which was enjoyed by all present.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Morris Berman and Mrs. Maurice Crystal.

Late Friday evening services will be held at Congregation Avath Israel at 8 p. m. This service will be a family service at which the birthdays and wedding anniversaries of the children of members and of the congregation that were observed this month, will be celebrated. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will bless the celebrants and a reception will be held for them in the vestry hall at the Oreg Shabbat after the services. Rabbi Schechtman will touch upon a problem that is confronting the Jewish religion as well as other religions in the question of assimilation and secularization. It is a topic that is defined in the Bible reading of this week, and which requires explanation.

Saturday morning religious services will begin at 9:30 a. m. During this service, the new born baby girl of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barnes will be named. A repast will be held at the Kiddush after the services in the vestry hall in honor of the naming. Rabbi Schechtman will conduct the service. All friends may attend the services and the Kiddush. Pre-School Group Schedules Program; Handicapped Child

On May 3, 1966 at 8 p. m. in the West Hurley School, the Pre-School P-TA in cooperation with the regular P-TA will present an area FIRST: A program on the perceptually handicapped child.

Guest speaker will be Dr. Ernest Siegel, M.A. author of the book, "Helping the Brain Injured Child." Dr. Siegel received his M.A. degree from Queens College, New York. Since publication of this book for his Doctorate, he spent eleven years as a teacher of exceptional children, the mentally retarded, the emotionally disturbed, the physically handicapped and normal child as well. It is to those suffering from organic brain damage that he devoted the major portion of his research.

As a member of the Board of Advisors of Malmonides Institute, Dr. Siegel has served as consultant on various programs for the brain-injured. He has been instrumental in establishing summer social recreational groups. He is a lecturer in Special Education at Queens College.

As a private tutor and counselor he has taught many families how to cope with the unique strain that inevitably results from the behavior of their brain-injured children.

The brain-injured child, by definition, suffers from perceptual impairment, inability to conceptualize adequately and/or behavioral disorders. There are probably many cases of brain injury which have not been reported. Some have probably been classified incorrectly as emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded. Some results of studies have been reported. One study shows that the incidence of brain injury is six or seven out of one thousand births. Others report a 1 per cent rate among the school population. These figures include for the most part those who manifest obvious motor impairment. They probably do not include many of the moderate or mild cases.

Marist Brothers Honor Tarver At Area College

Rupert Tarver of Lincoln Center and executive director of the Neighborhood Service Organization of Poughkeepsie received the Mater et Magister award this week at Marist College for promoting social progress.

The annual award given by the Federated Societies of the Marist High Schools of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut was presented by Brother Kirnan T. Brennan, provincial of the Poughkeepsie Province of the Marist Brothers as a part of a youth day which was described as "an encounter with Christ and ourselves."

Tarver who received a BS from Xavier University and a MA in education from NYU, came to Poughkeepsie from Galesburg Ill., where he was director of the Carver Community Center and the Human Relations Commission, from 1950 to 1956. From 1956 to 1960 he served as director of the William W. Smith Community Center and when the first NSO was formed in Poughkeepsie in 1960 became the first program director.

The father of six children, was the former president of the Dutchess County Social Workers and is a member of the National Recreational Association as well as the New York State Committee for public schools.

Tarver's other activities include membership in the NAACP serving on the Dutchess Branch Education Committee. He is a member of the Poughkeepsie Human Rights Commission and the Poughkeepsie Planning Commission.

In presenting the award in the name of the more than 300 students and religious order, Brother Kirnan stated that "we want to stress the inestimable work Mr. Tarver has done for youth."

In his acceptance speech Tarver described the problem of high school dropouts and said that "in most cases it is young people who have accepted the challenge of community problems." He stressed involvement as the starting point for better community understanding of the problems and potential of the underprivileged.

Some North Africans are so used to drinking brackish water that they take salt with them on their travels to mix with coffee.

Kingston High Scores 7-2 Decision Over Saugerties

SAFE AT THIRD. A New Paltz State runner is safe at third base in second inning of game yesterday against Oneonta at the State University field. The Oneonta third baseman awaits the ball while umpire Dave Beverly observes the action. New Paltz won the State University conference contest.

Bach, McGowan Limit Sawyers To Four Hits

Kingston High's unbeaten baseball team spotted Saugerties a pair of first inning runs and then roared to a 7-2 non-league triumph yesterday at the losers' diamond.

The defending DCSL champions took advantage of a pair of errors and a hit by John Nagy to rock starter Brian Bach in the opening frame. Bach hurled four innings more and relief hurler Frank McGowan went two frames without giving up another run.

Coach Mike Rienzo's team, which has been using the big inning to win its ball games, didn't change the script in this one. The locals tallied six times in the fourth frame.

Ignite Rally
Pete and John Watzka singled to begin the rally. Brooke Jenkins bunted and when the throw to third base was too late, all hands were safe.

Bach, a good hitting pitcher, blooped a single just over the infield to score a run and reload the sacks. After the next two batters were fanned, Lou Perry singled for two runs. Jack Schatzel beat out an infield hit, Bill Dugan singled and Schatzel scored on a passed ball.

In the seventh, Gene Rios singled and scored on Schatzel's second hit.

Bach fanned 10 in his five innings of work. He allowed three hits. McGowan struck out three and gave up one safety.

Kingston, with a 5-0-1 mark, entertains Lourdes next Monday, Beacon on Wednesday and Port Jervis on Thursday in the DUSO opener.

Fisher Saves Win for Zipkin

New Paltz State did all its scoring in the first five innings and then put down a pair of Oneonta rallies to record a 12-10 State University Conference win yesterday at New Paltz.

Starter Dan Zipkin picked up the decision but it was relief chucker Vince Fisher who finally tamed the visitors. Fisher allowed only one run in the final three innings.

The Hawks had two markers in each of the first three frames and added three in the fourth and fifth. First baseman Jim Townsend collected a homer, double and single. Jerry Hawkins had two singles and a triple and Frank Coletta hit a double and two singles.

Judd Magrin of the visitors shook Zipkin for a grand slam home run in the fourth inning.

The Hawks are now 1-2 in conference play and 2-3 for the season. They entertain Westfield State Saturday afternoon.

KHS Jayvees

Gain 13-7 Win

Six first inning runs enabled the Kingston High Jayvees to breeze to a 13-7 win over previously unbeaten Saugerties yesterday at Dietz Stadium.

Five hits, including a two run double by Greg Rios, and a Saugerties error sent the half a dozen markers zooming across the dish in that opening frame.

Charlie Jones hurled four innings for coach Ron Cole's club. He left the game because of illness after allowing only one single.

Nick Ascenzo, Dana Clearwater and Greg Rios finished with Clearwater being charged with the seven Saugerties runs.

The losers used two hurlers but the local scorebook didn't have the second pitcher listed.

Ken Gilligan had three singles in four trips for the winners.

Kingston is now 4-1-1 while the Sawyers are 2-1-1. Coach Cole's squad will play Monday at Lourdes.

Cardinal Will Dedicate New Novitiate Here

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman, will bless and dedicate the new building of the Sacred Heart Novitiate, West Park, on Saturday, 3:30 p. m.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph T. V. Snee, MA assistant vicar for religious, for the Archdiocese of New York, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The new building has complete facilities for 60 novices. Mother Josephine, MSC is Superior of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, and Mother Camilla MSC is Mistress of Novices.

Architect for the structure is De Sina and Pellegrino of New York City. General Contractor for the structure is Walter A. Stanley Construction Co., Inc., of Ossining.

conflict with my understanding of the law, or the advice of a previous corporation counsel with which I disagree. I suggest that if you avail yourself of my professional services at the proper time that the dignity of this council will prevail over the hysteria generated by political pressure.

Adjournment was moved by Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward and seconded by John J. Naccarato (R) Third Ward. Robert C. Schantz (R) Second Ward and Raymond Amater (R) 11th Ward voted against adjournment.

Who's Calling Shots? Machione

Alderman Machione today said he feels there have been "a lot of irregularities on this whole thing and it should be checked out. If the corporation counsel wasn't consulted (before the meeting was called) who was behind the scene in calling this meeting? I'd like to know who is doing it."

He also asked: "Why was there so much of a rush to call this meeting if the vote was legal in the first place. Somebody must think this is illegal." Machione also noted that before he voted on the measure April 22, he called attention to a zoning change which had been filed with the city clerk.

The alderman noted that a stenographer had been supplied by citizens' groups of the 11th and 12th Wards to take minutes of the meeting, but he was not permitted inside the council chamber rail. This, he said, "I do not feel was right or polite."

rollment in the Congressional District. With one third of the Dutchess Republicans in my corner, I realistically can anticipate winning the primary by a three to one total vote.

Aldrich continued, "By June 28, the day after primary day I hope to have 100 per cent support from the Dutchess County Committeemen in my campaign to retire the present Congressmen."

Door Always Open

"In the meantime, I pledge myself to conduct a clean campaign in Dutchess as elsewhere in the District, and I want all Dutchess Committeemen who do not yet support me to know they are welcome on my team now, and will be welcome after Primary Day. Aldrich concluded.

Fish and Aldrich will seek the nomination at the primary scheduled for June 28, and the winner will oppose incumbent Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D) of Ellenville.

Rollison Endorsed

Jay P. Rollison Jr., a Poughkeepsie attorney, and chairman of the Dutchess County Republican Committee, was unanimously endorsed for the State Senate to succeed R. Watson Pomeroy, Dutchess County, who is seeking election as delegate to the State Constitutional Convention. Rollison was endorsed as Senatorial candidate from the 38th District by the Ulster Republicans on April 23.

The Dutchess County GOP Committee last night endorsed Senator Pomeroy, Attorney Louis P. Francello of Saugerties and H. Clarke Bell of Woodstock as candidates to the Constitutional Convention scheduled to be held in 1967.

Dutchess County Republicans last night endorsed Emeel S. Betros, Poughkeepsie attorney for a seat in the Assembly representative of the 98th Assembly District. Incumbent Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock on Saturday received the unanimous endorsement of the Ulster Republican Committee to succeed himself.

Two others sought the Dutchess GOP endorsement for State Assembly. They were Harold C. Storm, former Arlington School District superintendent and Edward J. Filipowicz, former assistant county attorney. On the second ballot Betros defeated Storm. Only two ballots were taken.

Also named by the Dutchess Committee was Willis Stephens, incumbent Assemblyman from Putnam County. He will be a candidate for the Assembly from the 97th District. His endorsement last night at Poughkeepsie was unanimous.

Judge Aldrich Endorsed

Family Court Judge Raymond E. Aldrich Jr., Poughkeepsie, was the unanimous choice of the Dutchess GOP committee for another term. District Attorney John R. Hellman, Jr., who was appointed by Governor Rockefeller to succeed Raymond C. Baratta, now a county judge, was endorsed as the party candidate for district attorney.

Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan was unanimously endorsed as the GOP candidate for that office. Quinlan had succeeded former Sheriff C. Fred Close.

J. John Hautman, first deputy county clerk, was named as candidate for county clerk to succeed retiring County Clerk Frederic A. Smith, 66, who did not seek a 12th term in that office. Hautman was the winner in a contest with two other candidates, William Schreyer, commissioner of jurors and Under-Sheriff Robert Scott.

The office of county clerk in Dutchess pays a base salary of $11,500, but an increase will boost that figure to $13,000.

County Clerk Smith noted that the office has shown tremendous growth in the 32 years he has served as clerk. He said three decades ago there were eight full-time personnel while today there are 32.

David Hopson 26, of Washington Square Village, was injured Wednesday when the brakes on his car failed and the vehicle veered off Silver Hollow Road, Willow, and hit a tree. State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes of Kingston substation said Hopson was taken to Kingston Hospital by Gormley's ambulance. He suffered a broken nose, lacerations of the forehead and injuries of the right arm. Trooper David Wachtel cited the driver for driving a car with inadequate brakes. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten, Town of Woodstock.

The thief also broke into a file cabinet but no money was reported taken. Ulster County Investigator Thomas Mayone is continuing the investigation.

Think U.S. Will Intensify Raids On Truck Traffic

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. air attacks on truck traffic moving down from Red China will be intensified as the weather improves in the upper part of North Viet Nam, sources said today.

Bad weather in that region is gradually shifting southward. In the past several weeks, U.S. fighter bombers have been raking truck traffic along routes connecting Hanoi with Red China.

This has been particularly true along routes leading north-eastward from Hanoi, an area which was not subjected to armed reconnaissance before last winter's bombing pause, the sources said.

Officials also forecast a substantial increase in the amount in the region between Hanoi and of such efforts at night, not only Red China but lower down in North Viet Nam, along roads leading toward South Viet Nam.

Poor weather has hampered such strafing strikes and has prevented accurate estimates of damage inflicted on truck convoys.

The Communist trucks move mostly at night, when they are on the road during the day, are protected by camouflage.

U.S. sources said that, among other things, American pilots have found that the Reds have built trellises over certain stretches of highway and covered these structures with leaves and branches.

They told of an instance in which a plane zoomed low to check out what appeared to be a single truck and found 25 vehicles moving along the highway well masked by camouflage.

A variety of methods are used to ferret out nighttime truck traffic.

PSC Issues Two

Arrow Bus Line amendment, the PSC pointed out in effect present fares have been in effect since Dec. 15, 1952 and range from 15 to 55 cents on the Kingston route and to 50 cents on the Poughkeepsie route. Under the new tariff, minimum fares on each route will be 20 cents for certain initial zones, with maximums of 65 cents for a through ride between Kingston and New Paltz and of 60 cents between Poughkeepsie and New Paltz.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sagged lower early this afternoon with rails and industrials taking sharp losses. Trading was fairly active.

On average, it was one of the worst losses of the year. The Dow Jones Industrial average sank 11.42 to 933.12.

Brokers blamed much of the discouraged selling on a Supreme Court decision finding General Motors guilty of violating antitrust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

GM sank more than a point, reaching another new low for the year and breaking through the 90 level in its price.

Other auto stocks were unchanged to only a shade lower but there was weakness in blue chip chemicals, electrical equipments and nonferrous metals which dragged at the industrial average.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 3.0 at 344.7 with industrials off 4.3, rails off 2.8 and utilities off 1.

New York Central and Pennsylvania Railroad, their proposed merger approved by the ICC, slid a couple of points each in further "selling on the news."

Northern Pacific lost about 3 and Great Northern around 2½ as they reacted additionally to the ICC's disapproval of their merger plans.

Priorities were generally lower in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged.

Cost Exceeds Revenue

In filing its new tariff, which is expected to produce about $7,130 additional annual revenue, the bus company said that its cost of operating franchise service exceeded revenues received and that it has been unable to meet operating expenses only because of revenues received from chartered trips and contract school bus operations.

Hudson Valley Companies Inc., in filing its new tariff, reported a net operating revenue of only $247 for 1965 and estimated that it would lose money this year unless it increased its rates. It estimates that it will obtain an additional $2,364 annual revenue by increasing its quarterly minimum charges from $10.50 to $12.

Rates for consumption in excess of 9,000 gallons per quarter will continue at present levels, however.

5 Are Drowned As Rains Flood Homes in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Five persons drowned today when tremendous rains flooded hundreds of persons from their homes in Dallas and a northern suburb, Garland.

One of the victims, drowned in his late-model Cadillac was L. Perryman, president of General American Oil Co., an independent oil firm operating in six states and Canada.

Firemen axed through an auto's back window to free a woman from the car which had been swept into a swollen creek, but the man with her was trapped and drowned.

Robert Buck and his wife, Adrienne, of San Antonio, who moved to Texas recently from East Point, Ga., both drowned when their car was swept from a road into a creek.

At dawn the downpour which had been falling about an inch an hour subsided, and Mayor Eric Jonsson said "we think three are going to all the loss of life, but if there's more rain we'll have more trouble."

Fire department boats, carried by station wagons to scenes of local flooding, plucked people from trees, roofs and the roofs of cars in flooded expressway underpasses.

Water got into the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in north-east Dallas, forcing it to close until Friday, idling 1,500 workers.

The new round of turbulent weather came as rivers and lesser streams throughout the eastern half of Texas poured floodwaters toward the sea. Rains up to 21 inches had flooded wide areas, particularly to the east of Dallas.

GI Losses Drop

16. The government reported 93 killed and 33 missing, a decline from 141 killed and 52 missing the week before. Vietnamese wounded are not announced.

Other Allied Losses Up

Other allied casualties rose to 32 killed and 19 wounded, compared with three dead and 19 wounded the previous week.

The Viet Cong took a major share of their casualties when they were hit by U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops in coastal Quang Ngai Province last week. It was the first big Vietnamese operation since the start of the political turmoil in mid-March. At least 252 Reds were reported killed in the joint campaign.

Most of the Vietnamese casualties came in daily Viet Cong attacks on small outposts and hamlets, hinting at a decision by the Communist command to revert to hit-and-run warfare.

The Communists also have stepped up terrorism in Saigon and its vicinity.

Find Cong Supplies

Although the Communists still were duking the Americans, the U.S. 1st Infantry Division reported finding hundreds of tons of abandoned Viet Cong supplies at a huge storage center near the Cambodian frontier 70 miles northwest of Saigon. It was one of the biggest hauls of the war.

The "Big Red One" said at least 30 large caches of rice, salt, cooking oil and clothing were found in a complex of warehouses along the Rach Beng Go River, on the Ho Chi Minh Trail. The jungle network of supply lines is the major infiltration route for men and supplies from North Viet Nam through eastern Laos and Cambodia.

Planes Keep Active

U.S. planes continued the air war against the Communist north without letup Wednesday, setting aflame one anti-aircraft missile site and spotting two more near the coastal city of Vinh, a spokesman reported.

This is the farthest south any have been sighted in North Viet Nam.

The spokesman said the Communists sent up two missiles against U.S. F-4C Phantoms, but the supersonic jets evaded them.

Air Force fighter-bombers ranged around Dong Hoi, less than 50 miles from the South Vietnamese border, while Navy planes headed farther north to Vinh.

Pass Closed Again

A U.S. spokesman reported that the Strategic Air Command's second B52 raid on North Viet Nam's Mu Gia Pass, straddling the mountain border

Court Decides GM Violated Antitrust Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court decided today General Motors Corp. violated antitrust law by trying to ban sale of Chevrolets through discount houses in the Los Angeles area.

Justice Department counsel contended such sales would increase competition at the retail level and thus benefit consumers. GM attorneys argued the auto giant had to have a dependable dealer organization and said discount houses are not needed to create price competition.

Justice Abe Fortas delivered the unanimous decision. Fortas said the high tribunal found in today's case "a classic conspiracy in the restraint of trade."

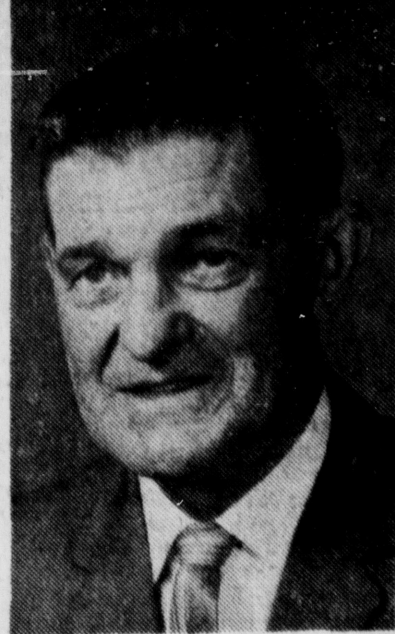

His opinion said there was "joint, collaborative action by dealers, the defendant associations and General Motors to eliminate a class of competitors by terminating business dealings between them and the minority of Chevrolet dealers and to deprive franchise dealers of their freedom to deal through discounters if they so choose."

Lindsay Briefs Senate Group on Building Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay told members of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee today that $4 billion is needed for new subway construction in New York City and its suburbs over the next 10 years.

Noting that the sum is about 40 per cent of the city's entire capital budget over the period, Lindsay said, "The outlay is plainly impossible without large amounts of federal funds."

In testimony prepared for delivery before the group's housing subcommittee, the mayor argued "the case for the straphanger" and urged federal support of urban mass transportation.

Lindsay said: "Cheap transportation for its residents is as essential a city service as police protection, welfare, assistance or public education."
New York City's "supplements to its transit system... amount to some 14 cents per passenger per ride," he said, adding that to be self supporting the transit system would have to charge "at least 30 cents."

Explaining why the city has not raised the current 15-cent fare, he said the effect of such a hike "would strike hardest at the more than one million New Yorkers who earn less than $4,000 a year."

Dangerous Label: Fulbright

Senators Differ On 'Sanctuary'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., hung a "very dangerous" label today on the administration's "no sanctuary" policy of hot pursuit of enemy fighters over Viet Nam.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in a separate interview this is a "recognized doctrine" of warfare which he does not believe invites the danger of Red China's intervention in the conflict.

Supports Warnings
Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said it is "sound policy to let the Chinese know in advance what is in store for them if they attack our planes over North Viet Nam."

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, noted that there has been no official pronouncement telling where the advanced MIG21s, which have engaged U.S. planes in dogfights, came from.

"But if they come from China and we follow them into China to attack their air fields, I think we are pursuing a very dangerous course," he said. "It could escalate the war."

Stewart said the pilot was Maj. Malcolm T. Kaiser, 42, Biggs, Calif. Maj. Frank N. Guszetta, 40, of Darby, Pa., was the copilot.
